

THE WEATHER

Fresh gusty east-north-east winds. Fine.

LATE FINAL

CHINA

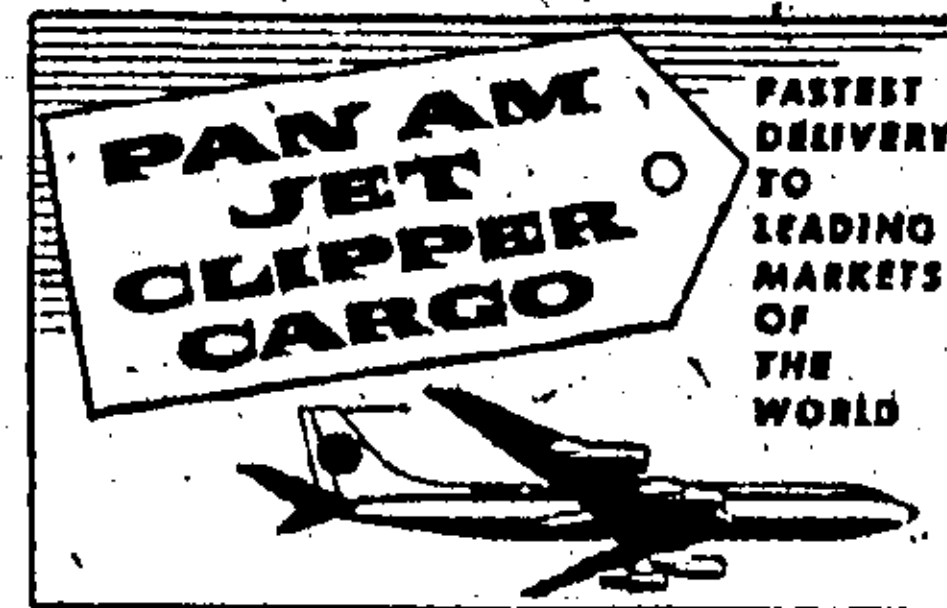

MAIL

No. 37527

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1959.

Price 20 Cents

Comment
Of The DayLABOUR'S DILEMMA

NOTHING new has apparently come out of the Labour Party conference at Blackpool and there is no evidence that the Socialists intend to alter their chartered course of nationalisation.

The conference was held ostensibly to carry out an "agonising reappraisal" of the events which led to the party's third straight election defeat. Mr Gaitskell openly admits that the threat of nationalisation caused them to lose votes but he still intends to stick to the plan as no one had suggested that it was the main cause of their defeat.

The fact that it did cost votes does not appear to worry him, an attitude which is hard to understand as surely the majority of electors indicated that they were against nationalisation.

Muddled

MR Gaitskell endeavours to explain all this away by blaming the electors for being muddled in their own minds about the party's future attitude and the unpopularity of some of the existing nationalised industries.

The Labour leader is burying his head in the sand, clogging his ears against the sound of hard facts and at the same time insulting the intelligence of the country.

Many brave words have been used to excuse the defeat, but what faces the leadership now is a hard and desperate struggle to avoid the total disintegration of the party.

Opinions

MR Douglas Jay, of the Right, wants nationalisation dropped and the substitution of "Labour" by another title. While on the Left, Mr Frank Cousins claims that it would be wrong to trim Labour's sails in any prevailing electoral wind.

These are not mere differences of opinion but basic divergencies which do not admit of any compromise and if one school of thought eventually prevails over the other the present Labour Party must break open at the seams which are currently straining at the threads, and disintegrate.

Mr Jay maintains that the party must be "open-minded" in formulating a new modern policy which is realistic and acceptable to the electorate.

Bigoted

THIS is the realist's approach and not the bigoted acceptance of a policy which cannot bend with the wind when the political climate of opinion warrants a change. If Mr Gaitskell is ever to be Prime Minister he will have to plan accordingly.

Yet the Left Wing wish to perpetuate the present policy. They would be well advised to follow in the steps of Mr Bevan who saw the writing on the wall. With the possibility that he would become deputy leader Mr Bevan threw the abolition of the H-bomb overboard and adopted a more cautious line. It is there fore not beyond the bounds that he may eventually do the same with Socialism.

POISON INSECTICIDES:
TWO MEN IN COURTRemanded
For 7 Days

A man appeared in Kowloon Court this morning charged with possession of a poisonous insecticide called Folidol.

And in Central Magistracy another man was charged with possession of Parathion, described as a poisonous ingredient used in insecticides.

The man, Chan Tai-wai, 37, an employee of the Chen Chiu Company of 95 Cheung Sha Wan Road, was charged with possession of "Part 1 poisons—namely 4 bottles and 3 tins of Folidol E 605."

The charge stated that the defendant had possession of the insecticide at 11.30 a.m. on November 28 at 95 Cheung Sha Wan Road and he had no authorisation from the Director of Medical and Health Services.

No plea was taken and the Magistrate, Mr I. M. S. Donnelly remanded him for seven days.

His bail of $500 was extended to the date of the next hearing.

At Central, a 34-year-old man, Wong Yau-yiu, of Wong Yuk Hop Seed Company in Peho Street, was accused of possession of "Parathion" without licence.

He was remanded for seven days by Mr T. L. Yang.

It is alleged that Wong had in his possession a certain quantity of Part 1 Poisons without a licence and without the authorisation of the Director of Medical and Health Services.

No plea was taken.

RUNAWAY GIRL
NOW UNDER GOVT PROTECTION

A 15-year-old girl who had been sold in the Walled City to become a prostitute, was ordered this morning to be put under the protection of the Social Welfare Office until she is 21.

A Hongkong Policewoman Inspector, Kimmy Hoh, attached to the Police Headquarters, told Mr E. Garcia, at the Juvenile Court, Kowloon, that the girl had on several occasions last year, run away from home.

"Several times she had been located in Ping Shan, New Territories, and brought back to her father and was warned not to run away again."

"She did run away again on August 31 and her father reported this to the Police the next day."

"Enquiries were made and it was discovered that she has been forced to become a prostitute."

"Two men were arrested and sentenced to six months in jail for selling the girl to a brothel earlier this month."

Mr Garcia told her parents that the application was made only for the protection of the girl.

Strike Planned

Paris, Nov. 29. Air traffic will stop next Wednesday throughout France when weathermen and airport security officials go on a 24-hour strike.

All trade unions concerned today ordered the men to join the nationwide strike of civil servants and public service workers due on that day to protest against inadequacy of pay increases judged by the Government.—Reuter.

MARGARET FINCHER RETURNS

"It's wonderful to be home again," said Miss Margaret Fincher, popular member of the younger set and a well-known Colony hockey star, when she arrived in Hongkong yesterday following a fortnight's stay in hospital after being injured in the bridge collapse during the Sixth Macao Grand Prix.

Miss Fincher, released from hospital on Saturday, was welcomed back by a large crowd of friends at the Macao ferry wharf. A new hairdo skillfully hid the scar on the back of her head.

She had nothing but praise for the hospital staff and the Macao authorities who "did everything" to make her stay in hospital as comfortable as possible.

HONGKONG CONTROLS
WALLED CITY

The Full Court this morning refused an application for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of a prisoner, Wong Hon, alleged to have committed a murder in the Kowloon Walled City.

In their judgment, the Full Court ruled that apart from the constitutional aspects of the case, the well-established doctrine of "act of State" in the assertion that the City of Kowloon was an "Altitia" wherein the Queen's writ did not run, could not be supported.

On the constitutional aspects of the case the Full Court ruled that the authorities were conclusive that in the sphere of municipal law, it was not possible to establish that the jurisdiction of the Court did not exist or that it was subject to some limitation arising from the mode of acquisition of the territory in question.

Unqualified

"In the face of the explicit assertion of unqualified jurisdiction by the Crown, with respect to the area of the City of Kowloon contained in the Order-in-Council of 1890, it cannot be successfully contended that the laws of the Colony do not prevail and the Courts of the Colony are without jurisdiction thereto."

The application was made by Mr J. N. Smart, of Wilkinson and Grisk, on behalf of Wong Hon, who had been committed for trial on a charge of murder in the Walled City.

Counsel for Wong, Mr A. H. Safford, had contended previously that Wong was a Chinese national. He had argued that the Peking Convention between Great Britain and China of 1898 excepted the Walled City or reserved jurisdiction within that area to officials of China. He submitted that the British Courts in Hongkong could not exercise jurisdiction over Wong in respect of an offence committed within the Walled City.

Mr Safford had also submitted that the Order-in-Council of the following year, which revoked Chinese jurisdiction provided in the Convention, had not been ratified by Chinese Government and Wong was at liberty to question the validity of the Order-in-Council.

Submission

The Acting Attorney-General, Mr Arthur Hooton, QC, submitted that whatever might have been the effect, of the Convention, the Order-in-Council, being clear manifestations of the exercise of the prerogative, were "acts of State" binding on the Court and as conclusive declaration of the jurisdiction conferred thereon.

The Full Court comprised the Chief Justice, Sir Michael Hogan, Mr Justice W. A. Blair-Kerr, and Mr Justice R. H. Mills-Owens.

U.S. Now 5 Years
Behind Russia
In Rockets

Washington, Nov. 29. Experts said here today in the light of the sixth successive United States failure to launch a moon rocket that it would take five years for America to catch up with the Soviet Union in the space race.

STRIKE IN UK POWER PLANTS

London, Nov. 29. A wildcat strike by 14,000 electric power station workers threatened to plunge much of England into darkness on Sunday night.

Employees at 33 power stations scattered over a wide area of the country planned a series of 24-hour walkouts culminating at midnight.

They are demanding a speed up in union-employer negotiations for a 40-hour week and longer vacations. The workers now work a 44-hour week and take up to three weeks' vacation a year.

The 24-hour strike threatened to shut off electricity supplies to millions of homes in three of England's biggest cities, cripple railroads and blackout radio and television programmes.

Strike leader George Wake, an admitted Communist, said power stations in London, Birmingham, Manchester and Southampton will be affected by the walkout.

But Wake said the strikers will be prepared to maintain supplies for hospitals and other emergency services.

The strike is in defiance of the advice of union leaders who say that negotiations for a shorter working week and longer vacations are "proceeding satisfactorily."

The Central Electricity Generating Board meanwhile warned people to cut down on electricity consumption, but said it was "reasonably confident" it could maintain essential supplies.—AP.

KRAKATOA
ERUPTING

Djakarta, Nov. 30. Airline pilots today reported seeing big eruptions on the volcanic crater of Krakatoa lying between the islands of Sumatra and Java.

Scanty first reports said the volcano was erupting regularly at two hour intervals, but these could not be confirmed immediately.

Krakatoa erupted in August, 1883, in one of the world's greatest natural upheavals. Volcanic ash was showered for hundreds of miles, and the sound was heard 3,000 miles away.—Reuter.

GRAND DUKEDOM
FOR RUSSIAN

Dijon, Burgundy, Nov. 29. Mr Sergei Vinogradov, the Soviet Ambassador to France, was created a "Grand Duke of the West" amidst the great wine-producing chateaux here this weekend.

Although a representative of the "East" which officially frowns on aristocratic titles, Mr Vinogradov blithely accepted the honour on being assured that the Dukedom is "symbolic."

It was bestowed by the Burgundy wine producers at a gala dinner in Dijon last night, when Mr Vinogradov (Vinograd is Russian for "grape") solemnly undertook to defend "Burgundy, her art and her traditions."—Reuter.

Lieut. General James M. Gavin, former chief of the Army's Research and Development Division, said in a magazine article: "We must face up to one fact: An all-out national effort is required to overtake the Russians. With such an effort we could tie the score within five years. Certainly we are not making anything like that effort right now."

"The support of the effort demanded of us is outspicing the Russians; our economy must be totally geared to this missile-space age. If we don't realize this fact and accept the challenge, not only for ourselves but for the peace of the world, we will go down to oblivion as a nation so preoccupied with the pleasures of the moment that we were unable to see the possibilities of the future."

An Opinion

An official of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) was quoted by the Washington Star as saying: "When I joined the agency a year ago, we all were talking about the United States taking a year to catch up. Now we are talking about five years."

The science writer of the Washington Star gave it as his opinion, after interviewing scientists here and Cape Canaveral, Florida, and politicians in Washington, that the United States would be out of the space race for the next two years at least and possibly for as long as five years.

He said it would be well into the 1960's before the United States could perform feats in space that the Russians already had accomplished.

"Russia's two-to-five-year lead in space is secure for a long time to come," the writer, William Hines, said.

The Atlas-Able rocket which failed to function when launched from Cape Canaveral last Thursday was the United States' last chance for a spectacular moonshot for some time to come.

There are no more big rockets available with the necessary capacity to match the Russian Luniks.

A second payload, similar to that lost in the sea last Tuesday, is available to send up near the moon but there is no Atlas-Able three-stage rocket available to launch it. Any such rocket would have to be diverted from some other military or civilian project already determined to be essential, the Washington Star said.—Reuter.

Shah Gives Jewels To Fiancee

Tehran, Nov. 29. The Shah of Iran has presented a beautiful set of jewels to the young girl who will become his Queen.

Farah Diba's family said today she had been given an elaborate blue case containing a necklace, earrings, bracelet, brooch and rings of diamonds, sapphires and rubies.

The Shah and Farah had a private lunch today after they decided the weather was too cloudy for pleasure driving.

Government officials said the Shah has been spending most of his time with Farah, despite many state duties.

The Queen Mother, meanwhile, was reported today to be planning to move to her summer palace.—UPI.

13 Killed In Explosion

New Delhi, Nov. 29. At least 13 people were killed and two hundred injured when a store of explosives caught fire in Jamunai bazar 10 miles from Asansol, West Bengal, tonight, according to official reports.

The reports said the store caught fire after gas ignited in an adjoining welding shop.

Surrounding shops crowded with market day customers were rapidly enveloped in flames.

The 200 injured were said to have been burned in the rush for safety.

All were taken to nearby hospitals, and 22 of them were reported critically hurt.—Reuter.

Protest Against H-Bomb

Oxford, Nov. 29. About 700 persons took part on Sunday in an eight-hour march to protest against H-bomb flights from the U.S. air base at Brize Norton.

The marchers, led by a jazz band, included students from Oxford, Cambridge and other universities. Nearly half of the demonstrators were women and children.

The protest was organized by the Oxford Area Committee for Nuclear Disarmament. The demonstrators also protested against the stock-piling and testing of H-bombs and called for a closing of missile and bomber bases.

Before the march to Oxford, 50 of the protesters paraded for 24 hours at the main gate of the air base. They carried a banner which said: "U.S. Friendship Not U.S. Bombs."—AP.

One Killed,
Four Injured
In Car Crash

One person was killed and four others injured at about 3.35 a.m. today when the private car in which they were travelling crashed into an iron foundation pile which was being moved to a building site in Castle Peak Road near its junction with Yu Chau Street.

Chan Sang, aged 48, of No. 32 Mong Kok Road, 2nd floor, died on arrival at Kowloon Hospital.

The four injured persons now receiving treatment in hospital are 43-year-old Fuk Yue of 354 Reclamation Street, rooftop; Fuk Tak, 41, of 1033 Canton Road, 1st floor; Ho On, 25, of 19 Peiking Road, 3rd floor and Yuen Kam-pui, 32, woman of 208 Fuk Wah Street, ground floor.

British Company
To Run Pools
From Macao

The "pools" are moving nearer to Hongkong. Starting March next year forecasters will be able to send their coupons to Macao instead of Britain.

Home
Floating Away

New York, Nov. 29. A thunderous crash and the crunch of splintering wood awakened Nat Wynn from a sound sleep early today in his eight-room home on a Long Island beachfront.

Wynn, 45, heard his wife, Edith call out frantically.

"Nat, come quick," she said. "Our living room and the den are floating away."

The Wynns, joined by their daughter, Marjorie, 21, watched in horror as their living room furniture and television set, piano, radio, various odds and ends bobbed out toward the open Atlantic, along with the debris from their living room and den.

Fearing their entire Atlantic beach home would collapse, the family fled in their nightclothes out the back door, since the front door had been washed away, along with the lawn.

They rushed to the home of neighbours and called police. An investigation disclosed that a huge dredge opening a channel had edged too close to shore and had undermined the Wynns' home.—UPI.

U.S. Serviceman Charged With Attempted Illegal Export

An American serviceman William Conrad Greene, 37, based on the U.S. Navy station ship in Hongkong the USS Monroe, was charged this morning in Kowloon Court with attempted illegal export of 50 gold bars without a permit and attempted illegal export of 200 wrist watches.

The offences are alleged to have taken place in the departure hall of Kai Tak Airport yesterday.

The Magistrate Mr I. M. S. Donnelly remanded Greene until tomorrow while further charges are prepared.

Greene is on bail of U.S. $200.

Inspector S. L. Fung prosecuted.

Laws Amended

"Gambling laws in Great Britain were amended in 1952 in order to legalize football pools. The promoters of Asian Football Pools assumed that Hongkong, being a British Colony, undoubtedly would be in line with the legislation enacted by the Houses of Parliament in England. The promoters started, therefore, in 1956, preliminary investigations for a similar enterprise in Hongkong, only to discover, to their astonishment, that the gambling ordinance of 1942 has never been amended in Hongkong. And they encountered strong opposition from the Jockey Club which jealously guards its monopoly."

"Nevertheless, a petition was submitted to the Governor-in-Council in August 1957 and this petition remained unanswered until March 1958 when notification of its rejection was made known to the promoters. It is known that a Royal Commission was appointed to study the gambling laws of Hongkong sometime in late 1958, but the findings were not published.

"Despite the rejection of the petition, the promoters continued their efforts to establish football pools in Southeast Asia and as an outcome of lengthy consultations with the governments of Portugal and Macao, the company will commence operation in March 1960."

"This is most sincerely regretted by the promoters, because Hongkong urgently needs considerable revenue to meet refugee needs. It is professionally estimated that the Asian Football Pools would have yielded annually three million dollars in tax and conservatively two million for social welfare, apart from a huge revenue in postal services and business tax. Furthermore, 400 persons, at least, would have been locally employed initially."

Rejected

"For the original petition to be rejected by Government is farcical, because already there is an agent for English football pools in Hongkong and thousands of dollars are remitted every week to England, with no resulting benefit to Hongkong."

"Last year Britain's government received from the pools £10 million and it is an established fact 94 per cent of pools intake comes from the working class. With the Asian Football Pools, as little as 10 cents can be invested, thereby bringing the project within the range of everyone."

"The promoters of Asian Football Pools deeply regret, therefore, that millions of dollars will not now be available as a further, substantial contribution for alleviating hardship in Hongkong."

"A great opportunity, therefore, has been lost," the statement concluded.

Sampson And Delilah Couldn't Agree

London, Nov. 29. A five-foot, three-inch Sampson and his five-foot, eight-inch Delilah were snoring of their love today because Sampson wanted to be the strongman in their lives.

Joe Sampson, of Karachi, agreed with Patricia Allen after 16 days of fighting over who would be boss that they might as well call off plans to get married.

Patricia, 16, who gave up a bank job to run away with Joe, 23, said: "You can't really be in love when you are always having romps and fights."

Said Joe: "With a name like mine, I have something to live up to. When I marry, I must be boss."

Fat said he was going to stay home with mother. Joe said he was going home to Karachi.

"Perhaps I will find the right girl in Karachi," he said.—UPI.

Panama Police Arrest Agitators

NATIONALISTS BLAMED FOR ANTI-U.S. RIOTS, 31 INJURED

Panama, Nov. 29. Panama Police arrested all known anti-U.S. agitators on Sunday after a night of riot, pillage and stoning of American soldiers standing guard at the Canal Zone.

A mob of about 300, splitting away from an orderly Independence Day rally, surged on the American-leased Canal Zone and battled Panamanian Nationalist Guardsmen and U.S. soldiers. A dozen U.S. soldiers and 10 Panamanians were injured in the melee.

Panama's broad Central Avenue was a wilderness of shattered glass on Sunday morning. Turned back from the Canal Zone, the mob went on a looting spree, smashing in store windows.

Authoritative sources said Panama Police in their roundup of agitators had jailed 30 to 40 persons.

The Panama Press blamed the violence on 150 Panamanian Nationalists who drove here from Western Panama in a "motorcade of sovereignty" to support this country's demands for sovereignty over the Canal Zone. Major General William E. Potter, Governor of the Canal Zone, praised Panama's National Guard for acting "in the highest traditions of their service" in checking the mob.

U.S. Ambassador Julian F. Harrington also sent a letter of praise to Col. Bolivar Vallarino, Commander of the Guard. The United States had criticized the guard for failing to control mobs in rioting on November 3 in which 80 persons were injured.

U.S. authorities indicated that, as a result of Panama's help in controlling the disorders, negotiations may open earlier than expected on Panama complaints regarding the Canal Zone.

Panama wants its flag to fly over the zone and wants an end to what it calls discrimination against its citizens in jobs and business opportunities in the zone.

There were indications that nationalists had taken advantage of Panamanian resentment and the big rally celebrating the 130th anniversary of this country's independence from Spain. One of the mob's leaders was described as a university student believed to be a Communist. In the mob were members of the "Committee for the Defence of the Cuban Revolution."—AP.

Socialists Deluding Themselves

London, Nov. 29. British Minister of Labour Edward Heath said today he thought the first lesson for the British Labour Party "is the one they are refusing to accept—that the British people in fact want nothing more to do with nationalisation."

"They are deluding themselves that it is merely a question of presentation," he told the Oxford University Conservative Association.

People were no longer interested in an election fought on the basis of class distinction, Mr. Heath added, and the Labour Party had made a great mistake in the recent General Election in trying to create what Mr. Heath termed a false image of the Conservatives as a party representing a narrow privileged class.

"One thing pre-eminent now," he said, "is that in the economic field we must maintain an expansionist economy with, at the same time, reasonable stability of prices and full employment. This is no easy problem."—AP.

Cold War Defrosted Says Monty

New York, Nov. 29. Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery declared in a television programme here tonight that he believed the cold war had been "defrosted" and that he was now clear for the Big Four leaders to go to the summit.

The British wartime commander made this statement in a pre-recorded television discussion with General Mark Clark, who commanded the United States 5th Army in Italy in the last war, and General Fridolin von Senger, who commanded German forces in Italy and on a sector of the Russian front.

Three military commanders—Viscount Montgomery, speaking from London, General Mark Clark from Charleston, South Carolina, and General von Senger from Switzerland—were continuing their discussion which began on Edward R. Murrow's "Small World" programme last week.

ASSAULT PARTY

Lord Montgomery said he felt that as a result of the visits of Mr. Nikita Khrushchev to the United States and Mr. Harold Macmillan, the British Prime Minister, to Moscow, and the forthcoming Soviet visit by President Eisenhower, "the assault party for the summit is ready and it is now just a question of the assault party assembling themselves."

He said, "The Russians were 'frightened of the Germans' and he could not visualise the reunification of Germany in the foreseeable future 'because the Russians simply will not allow it.'"

KHRUSHCHEV IN BUDAPEST

Budapest, Nov. 29. Nikita Khrushchev flew into Budapest on Sunday amid speculation that all or some of the Soviet troops stationed here may leave Hungary.

The Soviet leader apparently wanted to make it a friendly visit. He brought with him his wife, Nina Khrushcheva, who is officially as leader of the Russian delegation to the Hungarian Communist Party's Seventh Congress which opens on Monday.

It is the first full scale party convence since the 1956 uprising.—AP.

Thanksgiving Death Toll

New York, Nov. 29. As the long U.S. Thanksgiving holiday weekend neared its close on Sunday nationwide statistics showed that 475 Americans have died through accidents.

Traffic mishaps, as usual, were the most frequent cause of death with wintry weather as a contributing factor. The toll in this country was 319.

Fire deaths were listed at 57 with 99 miscellaneous. The Thanksgiving period extended from 6 p.m. on Wednesday to midnight on Sunday.—AP.

Demonstration

Brussels, Nov. 29. Thirty thousand demonstrators, some wearing striped prison garb of their Nazi concentration camps, paraded through the streets of Brussels on Sunday protesting any possible Government amnesty for wartime traitors.

Others protesting included war veterans, former underground agents, war widows and orphans and war crippled in invalid carriages.—AP.

Honeymooners Emerge

Downey, Calif., Nov. 29. The honeymoon is over today for two teenagers, but unlike most newlyweds Brent and Renae Parker are $1,000 ($360) richer.

A cheque for that amount was handed them yesterday as they emerged after two weeks of underground honeymooning in an 8-foot-by-8-foot concrete bomb shelter.

Also on hand to greet the "human groundhogs" was Congressman Chet Hoffield (Democrat-California), Chairman of a House Subcommittee on Radiation, who quickly inspected the pair's concrete honeymoon cottage along with reporters and local Civil Defence officials.

CONCERN

The officials had expressed concern over reports by Renae, 17, that dust had sifted in to the concrete bunker, suitably constructed from Civil Defence specifications for atomic bomb fallout shelters.

We'd Do It All Over Again, Say These Three Old Soldiers

New York, Nov. 29. Three old soldiers—an American, a Briton and a German—agreed today that if they had it to do all over again, they still would choose the military life.

The three were Gen. Mark Clark, Commander of U.S. Forces in Italy in World War II; Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, a World War II Commander in Europe, and former German Gen. Fridolin von Senger, who surrendered one of Hitler's armies in Italy. Asked on Edward R. Murrow's filmed CBS television show, "Small World," if they still would choose the profession of arms after all of the killing they have seen, they replied this way:

Montgomery—"I personally would. I have enjoyed it and I think I belong to a profession where a man speaks the truth, where he learns as high as possible a sense of duty and integrity, and where he learns to handle men. He learns that to command men, you have got to win their hearts."

Clark—"I've been 40 years as an Army officer. My father went to West Point. I went there, and my son went there. That's all we've known, and we have felt the integrity that you speak of. I'd do it again."

Von Senger—"I was very much shocked, also, as a soldier, in the way we sometimes killed one another on the eastern front and could not quite get over it. Still all the same, I think I should choose the profession again, because I happened to have had a chivalrous enemy at the end of the war in the Italian campaign—things were not as bad. At any rate, from that moment on, I recovered, as it were, as a soldier, and I should choose the profession again."

Murrow then asked the three generals to name the greatest commander of all time.

Montgomery named Moses because he was asked to do the impossible, to take the enslaved children of Israel to the land of Canaan.

Clark selected Napoleon and Von Senger said: "I don't think there is any one outstanding so much as the others into shade, but I dare say it's quite worthwhile studying their lives."

"You study Moses," Montgomery told his former foe, "he's a good guy."

Von Senger assured Montgomery that he would.—UPI.

Opposition To Japanese Orphans

Somerset, Nov. 29. A 50-year-old British woman, who wants to bring 10 Japanese children orphaned by the recent typhoon to her home near here, has come up against opposition from some of her fellow-villagers—who do not seem to like the idea of Japanese children among them.

The woman is Mrs Kathleen Tatchell-Morris. Her home village is North Curry, and her fellow-villagers are mainly retired army colonels, sea captains, an admiral and an English lord. The Sunday Dispatch today reported the woman's plan to bring a batch of some of the other villagers.

Lord De Clifford is reported by the newspaper as saying he is "startled" by the idea—"good gracious, fancy seeing a lot of Japanese children running round the village."

Mr Walter Powell, secretary of the local branch of the British Legion of Ex-Servicemen, is quoted as saying: "I know one cannot blame the children for the sins of their fathers, but anything Japanese appeals me after what I saw happen to my comrades (in the second world war)."

The wife of Lieutenant-Colonel Charles Champion is quoted as saying: "Our sons-in-law were a witness of the Japanese for three years. 'No one can object to anyone doing good.'"

"People seem to do anything for Japanese and Russians. Why don't they do something for our old comrades in need?"—China Mail Special.

DJAKARTA IMPOSES BAN ON FUTURE FOREIGN SETTLERS

Djakarta, Nov. 29. Djakarta, capital of the Indonesian Republic, was today "closed" under martial law to all foreigners wishing to reside here temporarily or permanently.

But an Army spokesman told reporters that no decision had yet been taken about foreigners already settled in this city of three million persons.

Djakarta thus became the third major Indonesian city to be closed to the country's alien population, the bulk of which are citizens of China.

West Java, capital of Bandung, was declared closed to new foreign settlers last week in the wake of an Army order to Communist Chinese traders to quit the villages and settle in the towns.

MOVEMENT OF CHINESE. Medan, capital of North Sumatra, and Indonesia's third biggest city was declared closed last year.

Observers say these Army decisions were aimed at tightening restrictions on the movement of Chinese in the Republic.

Diplomats say they were apparently not affected by the military decree "closing" Djakarta. The position of foreign businessmen living outside the capital was not known immediately, but the decree exempts foreigners who were newly arriving in Indonesia.

Allens are forbidden to take up residence in Djakarta under the decree issued this weekend by Lieutenant-General Umar Ibrahim Kusumah, Commander of the city's military garrison, for reasons of "maintaining public law and order."

The Garrison spokesman, Lieutenant Eddy Djandjang Djalatmadja, speaking to reporters when the ban was issued said that no definite measures were yet taken on aliens currently living in Djakarta.

He recalled a year-old regulation still valid that aliens who wish to leave the capital for other Indonesian areas must first get Police permission.

He said aliens were permitted to enter Djakarta on courtesy visits to relatives and sightseeing or pleasure trips.

Other centres, where it will be shown at the same time include London, Washington, Berlin, Paris and Rome.

The film, adapted from a novel by Nevill Shute, stars Gregory Peck, Ava Gardner and Anthony Perkins.—Reuter.

SELECT RESIDENCES TO LET
(conveniently located adjacent to Racecourse) Furnished and air-conditioned small flatlets to let now at fully inclusive rentals from $700.

HAPPY VALLEY
BOUNDARY STREET
Two unfurnished three bedroomed flats available in modern building designed by one of Hong Kong's leading architects.

LOWER MID-LEVELS
One well designed 5-roomed ground floor apartment, with private and spacious terrace and playarea. Unfurnished. Available now.

STANLEY
Attractively designed spacious 5-roomed apartment with open verandah overlooking private lawn. Kitchen particularly well-equipped. Furnishings may be acquired at tenant's option.

MACDONNELL ROAD
Compact two-roomed flatlet to let now at monthly rental $430.

PENTHOUSE: SOUTH BAY
Modest unfurnished accommodation ideal for bachelor. Spacious roof terrace and delightful view of Bay. Low rental.

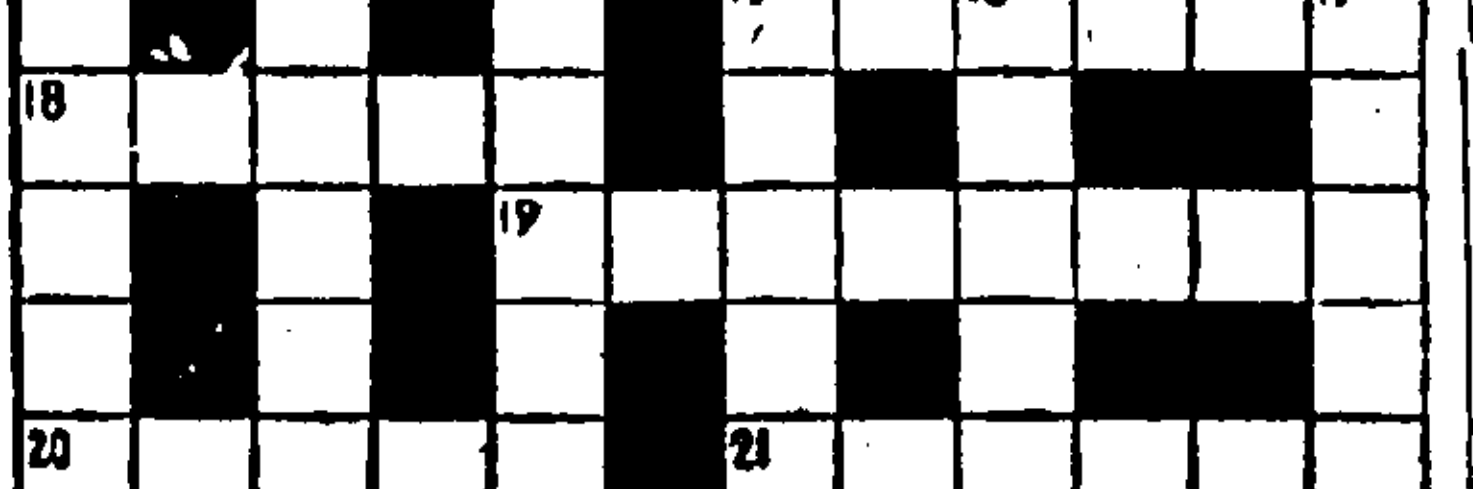

More details of these and other attractive offers from the Hongkong Land Investment & Agency Co., Ltd.

HONG KONG Gloucester Building Tel. 24228

KOWLOON 257, Prince Edward Rd. Tel. 51315

A British Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS
1 Wine, except for Falstaff's favourite? (6).
4 Saucy antic? (5).
7 Never—never shopkeepers count with people (8).
8 Not necessarily cricketing experiments (5).
9 The chief can usually be found in the paper (6).
11 One of those who pull together? (7).
13 A mother worker is awfully hard (7).
15 Nectar-induced state? (6).
16 The theatre of the newly rich (6).
18 Ho peddles (8).
20 Cheque-drawers? (5).
21 Come out (6).

DOWN
1 One of the nuts (5).
2 So the cover is not hollow (5).
3 A Highlander of romance (7).
4 Gait from "15" (6).
5 Journalists who urge people? (8).
6 Dried fruit though it is in the west (6).
10 With which people "jump to it"? (8).
12 Clearly a case for diplomacy (7).
13 Skimpering (6).
14 It needs five bob for game (6).
16 Part of Paisley familiar to brides? (5).
17 Ever in poetry that is weird (5).

SATURDAY'S CROSSWORD—Across: 1 Dawn, 4 Verb-Rh, 5 Evil, 9 Fall, 10 Sardine, 11 Spot, 12 Silo, 14 Referee, 17 Using, 19 Edict, 22 Plodded, 26 Aloa, 27 Vain, 28 Scamp-er, 29 Colt, 30 Rene, 31 Gloucester, 32 R.A.-R.E. Down: 3 Arab-in, 5 Nelson, 6 Vain, 8 Elated, 9 Badge, 7 N-once, 12 Surpr, 13 Lido, 15 Reil, 16 Tala, 18 Severe, 20 Dancer, 21 C-ella-r, 23 Local, 24 Demon, 25 Darts.

Manson House, Nathan Rd., Kowloon. Tel: 69900

Presenting The Famous American Cowboy Variety Show featuring

CAPT. G. EDWARDS & His Teenage Troupe, April & Clifford Edwards

Real Gun Shooting, Singing, Dancing. 2 Shows 10.15 p.m. & 1 a.m.

Noted Hungarian Acro-tap Dancers from Europe RITA & ROBERTO

In Their Original Novelty Act "DANCING ON DRUMS" 1 Show at 12.00 Midnight NO INCREASE IN PRICE! Superb Cantonese Cuisine Our Speciality

CHINA MAIL

HONGKONG PUBLISHED DAILY (AFTERNOON)
 Price, 20 cents per copy;
 Saturday 30 cents.
 Subscription:
 Neon Edition or Late Final Edition
 (Including Saturday Edition)
 $8.00 per month
 Postage: China and Macao $2.00 per month; U.K. and other countries $7.00 per month.

News contributions always welcome. Send to the Editor, Business Communications and Advertising, to the Secretary, Subscriptions and Newsprint, delivery to the Circulation Manager.
 Telephone: 8411 (4 lines)
KOWLOON OFFICE:
 Salisbury Road.
 Telephone: 8113.

Classified Advertisements
 20 WORDS $4.00 for 1 DAY PREPAID
ADDITIONAL INSERTIONS
 $2.00 PER DAY
 10 cents PER WORD OVER 20
 Births, Deaths, Marriages,
 Personal $5.00 per insertion not exceeding 25 words, 25 cents each additional word.
ALTERNATE INSERTIONS
 10% EXTRA
 If not prepaid a booking fee of 50 cents is charged.

POSITIONS WANTED COMMERCIAL

CATHOLIC YOUTH completed Form 5, adequate English, Chinese, Cantonese with correspondence, typing, Spanish, Cantonese, Mandarin, Italian, French, seeks office work. Box 152, "China Mail".

WANTED KNOWN

SLIMMING? AYDA provide vitamin and mineral requirements, prevent hunger pangs, chocolate and vanilla flavours available from leading dispenser and stores.

LIPS CHAPPED, CHAPS? Protect lips against sun, wind and weather with "Chap" Lip Balm. Suitable for whole family—especially the menfolk.

FOR SALE

ILLUSTRATED DIRECTIONS for adjustment of Hong Kong Standard Life Jacket (for Shipping Companies), 60 cents per copy. Obtainable at "S. S. M. Post".

BY THE WAY

by Beachcomber

CAPTAIN FOULENOUGH has approached several appallingly wealthy men, including Hector Koruthallos,
 "Nicky" Apteros and Rod-daktulos Heos (the "o" is long as in oboo), with a project for a casino at Narkover.
 The head master favours the scheme. "Anything," he said yesterday, "which takes the boys' minds off their work will release the masters from form-rooms which have become the scene of gang-warfare at its worst. What can one master do against twenty or thirty boys?"

The hair apparent ACHOBATS will read with amusement the item of news about a writer who dresses carelessly, and "whose" wife their stand-up on his head.
 The witty fellow would probably be cut out of the will if he refused to accept that ludicrous position. Perfect balance is needed when sleeping to shake hands with people. "Who's that on your head?" queried an embarrassed hostess.

Watch your target
I LIKE the phrase "imperfect marksmanship" used by a critic to describe the exuberant performance of a pianist. Paderewski always used to emphasize the importance of hitting the right key for and square in the middle. Pianists who raise their hands very high before taking a shot at a key sometimes even miss the keyboard, which makes them look extremely foolish. The whole secret is to keep calm, take aim slowly and carefully, and then pounce down on the required key. A near miss can be disastrous.

Sacharissa was not amused
 He complained that when the door was slammed in his face his nose was caught.

A SAFER manoeuvre is to thrust the foot inside the door. Tycho Brahe, the Danish astronomer who tried to find a compromise between the Ptolemaic and Copernican systems, had a sham nose of pure gold. One day, in Roskilde, Kepler banged the door in his face. The astronomer's nose was over the threshold, and Kepler smilingly unscrewed it.
 Brahe eventually recovered it from a pawnshop. They never spoke to each other again—not even about the parallax of comets. Waller's poem "Go, Lovely Nose" commemorates the incident.

—(London Express Service).

CROSSWORD

Across
 1. Conscience (9)
 2. Freezing (4) 11. Explains (9)
 3. Small orchestra (8)
 4. Alcoholic quality (6-6)
 5. Exclusive (4)
 6. Thin (4) 12. Weather feature (4)
 7. Laid (5) 13. Laid (5)
 8. Laid (5) 14. Laid (5)
 9. Laid (5) 15. Laid (5)
 10. Laid (5) 16. Laid (5)
 11. Laid (5) 17. Laid (5)
 12. Laid (5) 18. Laid (5)
 13. Laid (5) 19. Laid (5)
 14. Laid (5) 20. Laid (5)
 15. Laid (5) 21. Laid (5)
 16. Laid (5) 22. Laid (5)
 17. Laid (5) 23. Laid (5)
 18. Laid (5) 24. Laid (5)
 19. Laid (5) 25. Laid (5)
 20. Laid (5) 26. Laid (5)
 21. Laid (5) 27. Laid (5)
 22. Laid (5) 28. Laid (5)
 23. Laid (5) 29. Laid (5)
 24. Laid (5) 30. Laid (5)
 25. Laid (5) 31. Laid (5)
 26. Laid (5) 32. Laid (5)
 27. Laid (5) 33. Laid (5)
 28. Laid (5) 34. Laid (5)
 29. Laid (5) 35. Laid (5)
 30. Laid (5) 36. Laid (5)
 31. Laid (5) 37. Laid (5)
 32. Laid (5) 38. Laid (5)
 33. Laid (5) 39. Laid (5)
 34. Laid (5) 40. Laid (5)
 35. Laid (5) 41. Laid (5)
 36. Laid (5) 42. Laid (5)
 37. Laid (5) 43. Laid (5)
 38. Laid (5) 44. Laid (5)
 39. Laid (5) 45. Laid (5)
 40. Laid (5) 46. Laid (5)
 41. Laid (5) 47. Laid (5)
 42. Laid (5) 48. Laid (5)
 43. Laid (5) 49. Laid (5)
 44. Laid (5) 50. Laid (5)
 45. Laid (5) 51. Laid (5)
 46. Laid (5) 52. Laid (5)
 47. Laid (5) 53. Laid (5)
 48. Laid (5) 54. Laid (5)
 49. Laid (5) 55. Laid (5)
 50. Laid (5) 56. Laid (5)
 51. Laid (5) 57. Laid (5)
 52. Laid (5) 58. Laid (5)
 53. Laid (5) 59. Laid (5)
 54. Laid (5) 60. Laid (5)
 55. Laid (5) 61. Laid (5)
 56. Laid (5) 62. Laid (5)
 57. Laid (5) 63. Laid (5)
 58. Laid (5) 64. Laid (5)
 59. Laid (5) 65. Laid (5)
 60. Laid (5) 66. Laid (5)
 61. Laid (5) 67. Laid (5)
 62. Laid (5) 68. Laid (5)
 63. Laid (5) 69. Laid (5)
 64. Laid (5) 70. Laid (5)
 65. Laid (5) 71. Laid (5)
 66. Laid (5) 72. Laid (5)
 67. Laid (5) 73. Laid (5)
 68. Laid (5) 74. Laid (5)
 69. Laid (5) 75. Laid (5)
 70. Laid (5) 76. Laid (5)
 71. Laid (5) 77. Laid (5)
 72. Laid (5) 78. Laid (5)
 73. Laid (5) 79. Laid (5)
 74. Laid (5) 80. Laid (5)
 75. Laid (5) 81. Laid (5)
 76. Laid (5) 82. Laid (5)
 77. Laid (5) 83. Laid (5)
 78. Laid (5) 84. Laid (5)
 79. Laid (5) 85. Laid (5)
 80. Laid (5) 86. Laid (5)
 81. Laid (5) 87. Laid (5)
 82. Laid (5) 88. Laid (5)
 83. Laid (5) 89. Laid (5)
 84. Laid (5) 90. Laid (5)
 85. Laid (5) 91. Laid (5)
 86. Laid (5) 92. Laid (5)
 87. Laid (5) 93. Laid (5)
 88. Laid (5) 94. Laid (5)
 89. Laid (5) 95. Laid (5)
 90. Laid (5) 96. Laid (5)
 91. Laid (5) 97. Laid (5)
 92. Laid (5) 98. Laid (5)
 93. Laid (5) 99. Laid (5)
 94. Laid (5) 100. Laid (5)

Mail Notices

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 30
 By Air
 Guam, 3 p.m.
 Switzerland, 6 p.m.
 Korea, 6 p.m.
 India, Egypt, Italy, Portugal,
 6 p.m.
 By Surface
 Canada, 3 p.m.
 Japan, U.S.A., C. & S. America,
 3 p.m.
 Macao, 6 p.m.
TUESDAY, DECEMBER 1
 By Air
 China, People's Republic, 7 a.m.
 Hawaii, U.S.A., 10 a.m.
 Formosa, Japan, 10 a.m.
 Thailand, Malaysia, Indonesia, Noon.
 Middle East, Aden, Africa, Great Britain, 6 p.m.
 Philippines, Guam, 1 p.m.
 Vietnam, France, 2 p.m.
 Canada, 6 p.m.
 Malaysia, Indonesia, Ceylon, India,
 Middle East, Africa, Great Britain & Europe, 6 p.m.

THE LORD IS WITH YOU

The Lord is with you them that are of a broken heart.
 Psalm 34:18.
 It is good to know that in our loneliness, bitter hour the great heart of the Infinite is touched by our misery.
 Press-Radio Bible Service,
 Inc. Cincinnati, Ohio.

Malayan Newsletter From Gordon Hung

FATAL-TO-MAN INSECTICIDE HAS CAUSED A SHOCK

Kuala Lumpur (By Airmail).

Only two months have passed since the barley killer scare in the Malayan peninsula which resulted in nearly a dozen deaths and now the rural people have a shock—there is an insecticide on sale throughout the country that not only kills insects but man also!

Commonly known as "Chinese DDT", this illegally imported brand of insecticide has so far killed eight people as far back as June.

The solution contains a high percentage of parathion, the deadly chemical which poisoned barley stocks early in the year.

"Death can occur through contact with the skin," the medical authorities said.

The solution, which cost about 11K$2 and is labelled "Tiger Brand," has been smuggled into the country across the northern borders from Siam.

So far health authorities have seized over 200 bottles of the "killer liquid" from shops, stalls and hawkers.

The anti-triad society campaign in Singapore has forced many triad thugs to seek refuge across the causeway separating Singapore from Malaya and they are giving the Federation police a headache.

Police investigating recent crimes in the Federal capital think that thugs from Singapore are behind the operations.

Last week there were two payroll robberies, which the police said followed patterns adopted by Singapore criminals, one unsuccessful safe cracking attempt, and a killing of a tattooed mechanic from Singapore.

Arrests were only made in connection with the killing attack.

The capital's police said that in the past few weeks, there had been a steady flow of bad hats into the capital from Singapore.

Police believe that the Singapore thugs are operating hand in hand with local hoodlums.

The Singapore Minister of Health told the public that as Singapore was now a self-governing state, the citizens should no longer depend on donations coming mainly from British servicemen.

The Government is seeking to make up a register of about 12,000 donors, each giving blood once a year.

So far over 500 people have registered.

A Health Ministry spokesman said that the "intensive" campaign, which includes hourly appeals over the radio, cinema and pamphlets, will last until the end of the month, but a "sustained" campaign will continue till next year.

They have been told: "If he is under 21, don't marry him just now."
 The reason: To prevent any local girl from turning into "another Mrs Dorothy Cooper."

Mrs Cooper, of London, is now engaged in a bitter fight with the War Office, because Army regulations are preventing her from joining her soldier husband now serving in Malaya.

He is under 21 and according to regulations, she is not entitled to any of the benefits of an Army wife until he is 21. Both are 20.

The GHQ spokesman said: "Any local girl will and herself in the same position if her under-21 soldier husband is sent overseas."

"She will not get any quarters or free passage."

"So far there have been no such cases here."

The shortage of blood both in the Federal capital and Singapore has always created some difficulties in times of emergency.

The Singapore Government has decided to end this shortage and they have started an island-wide Government campaign for blood donors.

The campaign got underway this week when Mr Lee Kuan-yew, the Prime Minister, and members of his cabinet donated blood.

The Singapore Minister of Health told the public that as Singapore was now a self-governing state, the citizens should no longer depend on donations coming mainly from British servicemen.

The Government is seeking to make up a register of about 12,000 donors, each giving blood once a year.

So far over 500 people have registered.

A Health Ministry spokesman said that the "intensive" campaign, which includes hourly appeals over the radio, cinema and pamphlets, will last until the end of the month, but a "sustained" campaign will continue till next year.

CHINA MAIL ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE

FILMS
KING OF PRINCES: "Last Train from Gun Hill" starring John Hough and Anthony Quinn.
ROOYAL & GALT: (At 2:30 p.m., 5 p.m., 8 p.m.) The Young Philadelphians, starring Paul Newman, Barbara Rush, Alexis Smith and Brian Keith.
ROXY & BROADWAY: "Bound for Glory" starring Fabian, Carol Lynley, Stuart Whitman and Arthur O'Connell.
LEE & ALTON: (At 2:30, 5 and 8:15 p.m.) "The Nun's Story" starring Audrey Hepburn and Peter Finch.
STROPOLE: "Mother" (Japanese film with English subtitles).
STAR: "Drango" starring Jeff Chandler and Joanne Bru.
RITZ: "Tiger Bay" starring John Mills and Horst Buchholz.
ORIENTAL: "Alla Jese James" starring Bob Hope and Rhonda Fleming.
MAJESTIC: "North By Northwest" starring Cary Grant, Eva Marie Saint, and James Mason.
CAPITOL: "The Great Dictator" starring Charles Chaplin.
STATE: "Lady on the Roof" (A Chinese film).
PARAMOUNT: "Bloom in Hell" (Japanese film).
NIGHT SPOTS
PARAMOUNT: Glencairn and his Italian Combo. Floor Shows by John Wardell's Continental Cocktail Follies. Cocktail Lounge: Larry Allen at the Piano Bar. MAXIMA: Music by Franco Trombetta and his Italian Combo.
CHAMPAGNE: Acrobatic show by the Wong Brothers.

CARLTON: Mario Francisco and his Combo.
GOLDEN PHOENIX: Caesar, the King of Pica-Pica and Manolo Guerra, Spanish singer from Barcelona. Music by Ponching Garcia and his dynamic band. Vocalist: Luis Vi Minda.
HOTEL MIRAMAR: Bob Waller and his Quartet with Miss 12 Line.
BUN WA: Music by Uille Delino and his band. Vocals by Fung Chin Yip and Benoit.
BLUE HEAVEN: Dancing by Jeff Spencer, and Rita and Miss Joan Manning.
PRINCE OF GARDEN: The Dairys and Rita Savelli, the Latin Temptress.
KADIO HONGKONG
 5:30 p.m. For The Very Young—Mavis. 6:45. War On Communism. Dedication the Solution. 8. BBC Jazz Club. 9:30. The Archers. 10. Victor-Jovanna. In G. Mixer (Dach). 11. 5:58. Weather. 7. Time Signal. News. 7:10. Commentary. 7:15. Cocktail Time. 7:30. London Calling. 8. Beyond Our Ken—Starling Kenneth Home. 8:30. Instruments of the Orchestra—Stringed Instruments. 8:58. Weather. 9. Time Signal. News. 9:15. "Flashpoint" by Philip McCutchan. A drama of the Royal Navy in peacetime by Radio Hongkong Actors Studio. Produced by Ted Thomas. The cast—Derek (John Philip), Miranda (Elizabeth King), Music by Francis O'Brien (Eric O'Neill-Shaw), Mrs O'Brien (Jean Ramage), President of Court Martial (Derek Scull), Defence Officer (Michael Bulmer), Deputy Judge (David Hunkley), Captain Patterson (Douglas Bryson), Quarter Master (John Morris), Gunner (Robert Evans), First Officer (David Alexander), Petty Officer Williamson (Ray Fry), Petty Officer Johnson (Noel de Guingand), Bosun's Mate (Ian Quinn), Chief Engineer (David Alexander). 10:30. Hancock's Half Hour (Repeat of last Saturday's Broadcast). 10:58. Weather. 11. Time Signal. Radio News. 11:15. Music in a Quiet Mood. 11:30. Close Down.
COMMERCIAL RADIO
 2 p.m. Background Music. 4. Weather. For The Ladies—presented by Pat Lawrence. 4:30. Children's Concert. 4:45. Ella and Louis. 5. The "Scottish" Symphony (Mendelssohn). 5:50. Played by the Symphonie Orchestra. 6. When We Were Young. 6. Cocktails And Combs. 6:30. From The Great Outdoors—presented by John Gunton. 7. News Relay. Weather. 7:15. Music of Mantovani. Melachino & Martin. 7:30. Hi Fi Club—presented by Rick Kendall. 8. The Spoken Word. 8:15. Mystery Tunes—John Wallace. 8:30. Latest Hits—John Wallace. 8:30. Radio News. 9:15. Naitian Milliet (Violin). 10:30. La Ronde. Confronted with Lydia. 11. Clair. 11. Radio News. Weather. 11:15. Music Till Midnight. 12. Midnight. Weather. Close Down.
TELEVISION
 5 p.m. Junior Sport Time—Presented by Jack Bloom. 5:15. Fury The Wonder Horse. 5:45. Junior Science. 6. Close Down. 7:30. Gerry D'Almeida. Introduction. "Monday Variety". 7:30. Pacific Festival 1959. 8:30. "Dr. Christian". 8:45. Calling Card. 9. News. 9:15. News. 9:15. Advertiser's Album. 9:30. Jane Wyman Show. 9:40. Cantonese Festival. "Down on Earth". 11:30. Late Night Final. Close Down.

Centralize your shopping at Central Building Arcade

"Parisette"

THE LITTLE FRENCH BOUTIQUE

- HIGH-CLASS DRESSMAKING under Paris-trained Expert Supervision
- ACCESSORIES, HATS, NOVELTIES FROM PARIS

108, Central Building, 1st floor, Hong Kong. Tel. 32534

QUEEN'S DISPENSARY at 6, CENTRAL BUILDING

TEL: 20492 30954

Half Century Famous For:—

- ★ Pure Drugs & Patent Medicines
- ★ Perfumery & Cosmetics
- ★ Prescriptions
- ★ Ship Medical Supply (M.O.T. Standard)
- ★ Prompt & Accurate Services

Simone's

INSTITUT DE BEAUTE BEAUTY PARLOUR
 for Ladies & Gentlemen

2nd Floor, Central Bldg. Under the management of Mrs. T. Barnard you cannot stay awake on a Remploy

MATTRESS

Sole Agents:

Eastern Zone Industrial Co., Ltd.

209 Central Building. Tel. 37843, 32711

MING TAK BANK

Banking; Money Exchange; Travellers Cheques

HEAD OFFICE: Central Building, Pedder Street
 Tel: 22525, 32316

BRANCHES: 86 Nathan Road, Tel: 64488
 Kai Tak Airport Tel: 53053, 55145

TRAVEL DEPARTMENT

Air/Sea Bookings—Sightseeing Tours
 OFFICE: 94 Nathan Road. Tel: 63653

We have just received a lovely selection of ENGLISH WOOLLEN DRESSES including a big range of large sizes

Sybella

DRESS SALON

101, Central Building, Pedder Street, Hong Kong. Tel: 20995

MILLINERS

We Make & Remodel Hats

IMPORTER OF DRESSES
 For All Occasions

Remé

203 Central Building. Tel. 38339

Jack 'n Gill

ORIGINAL & COMPLETE LINE OF INFANTS
 AND CHILDREN'S CLOTHES
 NOVELTY ITEMS * GIFT SETS

103, Central Bldg. 1st Floor, Pedder Street.

Telephone 32809

FOR Fashions IN

ALL TYPES OF CLOTHES, WOOLLENS, FANCY GOODS AND SUNDRIES

always come to

Fashions

Central Building. Ground Floor

We offer the very best

ORIENTAL SILK & SILK BROCADE

Exclusive Collection adapted from The Orient

Hostess Gowns — Robes — Banker's Coats
 Mandarin Jackets & Coats — Evening Coats
 Lounging Pyjamas and many others

EXPERT LADIES' TAILOR

Exquisite Workmanship

Comprehensive Certificate of Origin available

HONG KONG SILK MILLS

27 CENTRAL BUILDING

TEL. 34488

Gifts

Choosing a gift that will convey your sentiments eloquently is so simple

at

S.P.H. de SILVA (H.K.) LTD.

JEWELLERS

3 Pedder St.

Associate Co.—S. P. H. de Silva Ltd., Singapore & Malaya

Phone: 25807

KING'S PRINCESS

—NOW SHOWING—
FOR THE 12th BIG DAY!

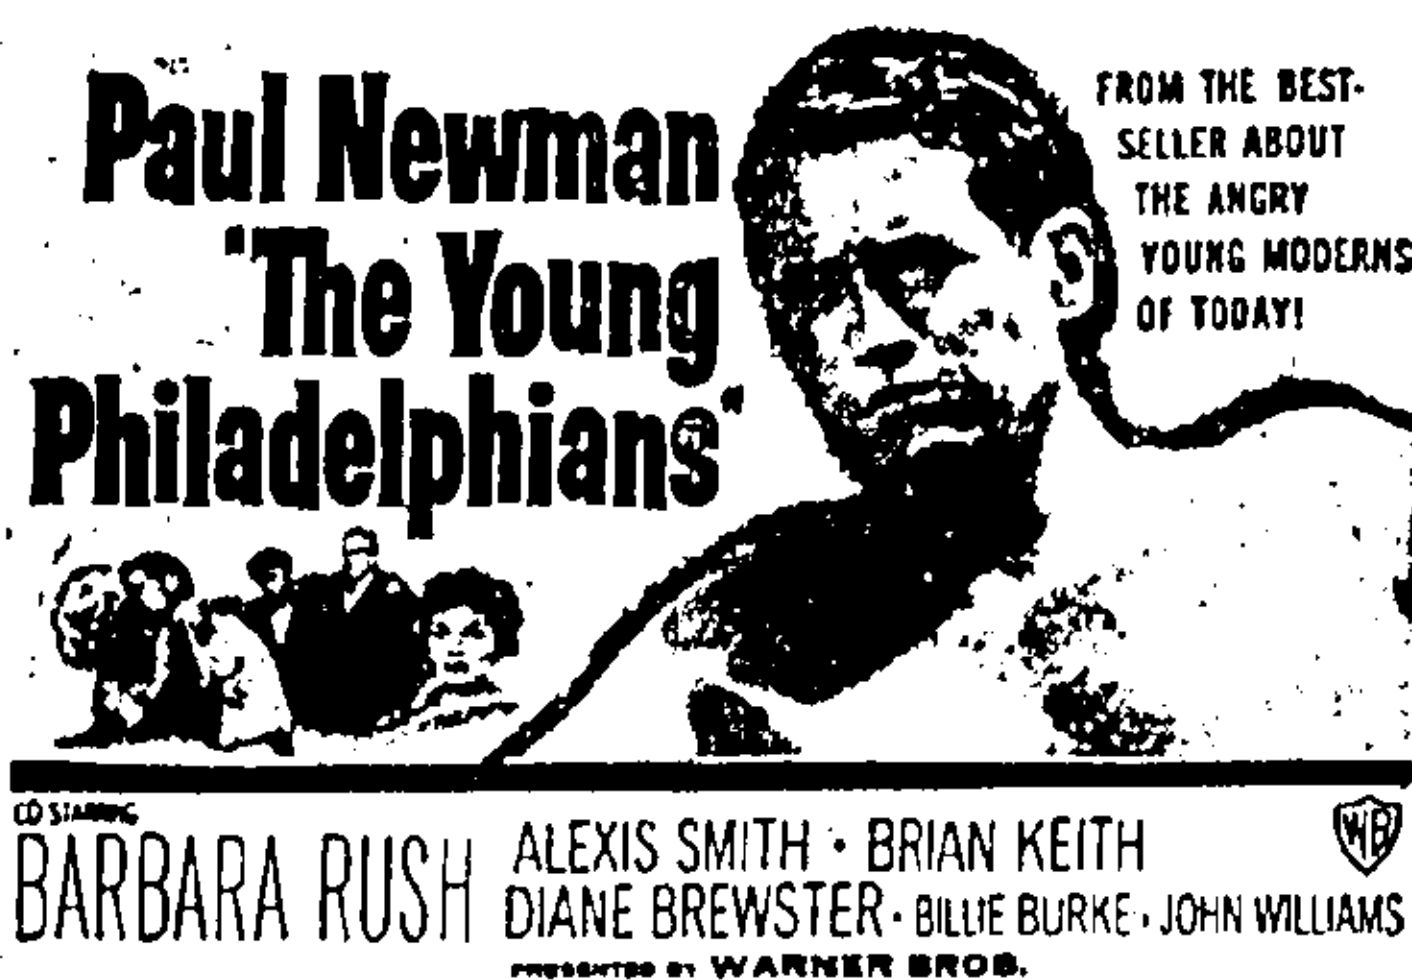

PLEASE BOOK EARLY TO AVOID DISAPPOINTMENT!

HOOVER GALA

★ SHOWING TO-DAY ★
AT 2.30, 5.00, 7.25 and 9.50 p.m.

Owing to length of picture time of performances has been changed and there will be no short subjects in the programme. Please view the picture from the beginning.

METROPOLE

TO-DAY
At 2.30, 5.30, 7.30
& 9.30 P.M.

ALL STAR CAST — WITH ENGLISH SUBTITLES

A Dole Production

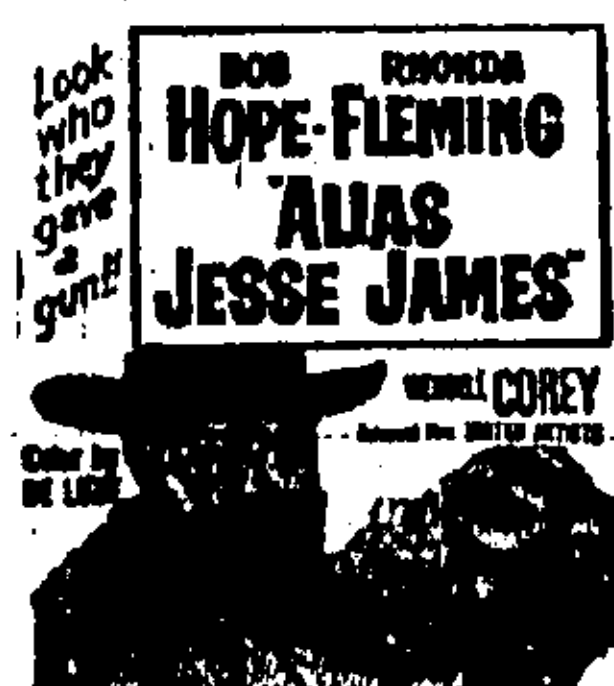

The Comedy of the Year!

Coming to METROPOLE!

ORIENTAL MAJESTIC

TO-DAY
AT 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 P.M.
THE BEST COMEDY HIT OF THE SEASON! ... Will keep you laughing from the beginning till the end!

SHOWING TO-DAY
Please Note Change of Times
At 2.30, 5.00, 7.20 & 9.45 p.m.

The Master of Suspense tells his greatest tale!

NORTH BY NORTHWEST

Dr Barbara Proves That Women Are As Tough As Men

London, Nov. 29.
A middle-aged vegetarian lady in a purple track suit hobbled through a London downpour today at the end of a 110-mile march to prove that women are as tough as men.
Dog-tired Dr Barbara Moore, 55-year-old scientist, just failed to crack the unofficial record for Britain's latest weekend craze. She walked the 110 miles to London from Birmingham in the industrial Midlands in 26 hours 25 minutes, which was much better than many bigger, brawnier males could manage on the road today.
And it was only one minute outside the record set last night by three army men who also marched from Birmingham to the capital.
In the face of strong opposition from the opposite sex, many of them tough servicemen, the little doctor declared that when it came to physical endurance women were the equal of men—and set out to prove it.
It was her second attempt. Last week her stocky legs carried her the distance in much shorter time, but she was disqualified when she casually admitted that she ran 38 miles to make up time. Today she travelled alone—without Fangio, her pet tortoise, who went with her last time in a little bag.—AP.

LONDON BID TO AVERT BIG XMAS TRAFFIC JAM

London, Nov. 30.
Christmas shopping motorists will today find themselves virtually banished from London's West End as special traffic regulations come into operation.

SHIP FIRE: DAMAGE NEGLECTIBLE

The fire that raged for nine hours aboard the Asphalton in Ngautaukok waters yesterday was similar to the one which broke out in the old Rediffusion building in Wanchai a few years ago.

The fire spread through the insulating cork and wood surrounding the refrigeration hold. Mr Lee Man-chiu, Manager of Dah Choong Hong Ltd., who bought the ship from England for scrapping, told this to the China Mail this morning.
"In this case, damage is negligible," he went on. "At least the steel is still there for later export to Japan."

Extra police are being drafted into the area to rigidly enforce extended no-waiting restrictions announced last week by Mr Ernest Marples, the new Transport Minister.

Any car found parked other than at a meter or in a permitted area will be instantly towed away.

Twenty temporary car parks, most of them free, have been created outside the banned area. Sites include Horse Guards Parade, the Mall and two areas of Hyde Park.

Cars Out

Extra buses and underground trains are also being run to encourage shoppers to leave their cars at home or outside the West End.

The scheme, designed to ease congestion during the busy Christmas shopping period, stays in operation until about January 10 to cover the January sales and pantomime season.
Last night cars, full of children, out to see London's gay glittering Christmas decorations, were packed solid along Oxford Street and Regent Street — China Mail Special.

THE IDEAL SPOT
for your Luncheon Appointment!

Business Lunch ... $4.00
Special Lunch ... $6.00

TO-NIGHT

Presenting

CAFFARI

EUROPE'S

KING OF THE

PICK-POCKETS!

First Time

In Hong Kong!

MANOLO CUERVA

Spain's Renowned

Singing Star!

GIANCARLO

& His Italian Combo

COCKTAIL LOUNGEPIANO BAR

Featuring

LARRY ALLEN

For Your

Drinking Pleasure

Open Till 2 a.m.

TEL. 24406

12651

Mr and Mrs Jeeves at the airport this morning.—China Mail Photo.

FOUR-IN-ONE VACCINE FOR HONGKONG

By A CHINA MAIL REPORTER

"Kindness To Criminals
Does Not Pay"

A new vaccine which will guard against polio, tetanus, diphtheria and whooping cough, will be released in Hongkong early next year.
This was announced by Mr W. R. Jeeves, a senior executive of a leading pharmaceutical company, who arrived with his wife by PAA today.
The vaccine, named Quadrigen, was released in America this year.
Mr Jeeves said that the revolutionary vaccine will now only require three injections instead of the customary 12 when they are being immunised against the four diseases.
Mr Jeeves is travelling to Manila where the Central University is going to confer on him an honorary doctor's degree.
He will then return to the United States.
London, Nov. 29.
Cardinal William Godfrey, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Westminster, said in a pastoral letter read in all Catholic churches in Britain today that kindness to criminals does not pay.
"The psychological approach to the problem of increasing crime has failed to stem the tide of lawlessness," he declared.
"The comparatively lenient methods adopted in recent times have been generally unavailing. The evil has not been halted; crime grows apace."
"Effective punishment inspires fear in the guilty heart," Cardinal Godfrey suggests that a start should be made with the family. He calls for parents to be kind, yet strict, with their children.—AP.

Photo Exhibition

A photography exhibition of Hollywood celebrities was opened this morning on the first floor of Sincere Co. Ltd. in Des Voeux Road. The photographs on view are the work of Mr Charles See, which he is taking on a world tour.
(SEE P.6)

JAMES STEWART
LEE REMICK
BEN GAZZARA
ARTHUR O'CONNELL
EVE ARDEN
KATHRYN GRANT

and JOSEPH N. WELCH as Judge Weaver

THE GOLDEN PHOENIXCAFFARI

The King of

Pick-Pockets

and

MANOLO CUERVA

Spanish Singer

from

Barcelona

FLOORSHOWS

A1

10.15

12.15

FIRST FLOOR

MANSON HOUSE

KOWLOON

TEL. 68105

Music By

Punching Garcia

And His

Dynamic Dancers

Vocalist

Luz Vi Minda.

POP—Coffee Barred?

IT'S NO GOOD, WHEN IT GETS LATE I CAN'T RELAX UNTIL THAT BOY'S IN.

ME TOO—LISTEN—I CAN HEAR HIM COMING UP NOW!

WELL, WELL! SO EARLY—IT'S NOT MIDNIGHT YET!

YOU DON'T SUPPOSE SOMETHING'S WRONG?

AND THEY DRINK

Carlsberg

AND THEY DRINK

Carlsberg

Lee Astor

TEL. 72340 TEL. 67771

LAST 2 DAYS

3 SHOWS DAILY AT 2.30, 6.00 & 9.15 p.m.

From the gripping and dramatic best-seller!
AUDREY HEPBURN
FRED ZINNEMANN'S
THE NUN'S STORY
TECHNICOLOR

PETER FINCH
Admissions: $1.70, $2.40, $3.50 & $4.70

NEXT CHANGE

Admissions: $1.70, $2.40, $3.50 & $4.70

ROXY & BROADWAY

TO-DAY & TO-MORROW ONLY ONLY.

AT 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 P.M.

A MOTION PICTURE ACLOW WITH YOUNG LOVE AND ADVENTURE!

Return Engagement on Wednesday
2nd December
BY POPULAR DEMAND

BOOK EARLY!

RITZ CINEMA

★ SHOWING TO-DAY ★

AT 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 P.M.

NEXT CHANGE

Clayton MOORE • Jay SILVERHEELS in
"THE LONE RANGER AND THE LOST CITY OF GOLD"

By Gog

YOU DON'T SUPPOSE SOMETHING'S WRONG?

AND THEY DRINK

Carlsberg

AND THEY DRINK

Carlsberg

AND THEY DRINK

Carlsberg

AND THEY DRINK

Carlsberg

WHY I RATE THIS MAN A GIANT

RENE MacCOLL REPORTING AGAIN ON "ASSIGNMENT AFRICA"

Leopoldville.
So this man — this black-skinned man, with the diffident piping voice, the expressive, sensitive hands, and the two fountain pens clipped to the inside of his white nylon open-necked shirt—may well be the heir to all the power and the glory.

The power, the glory—yes, and the fantastic wealth—of the Congo.

The heir to the work of men like Livingstone and Stanley.

The heir to a vast territory stuffed with riches, 82 times the size of Belgium itself, given to the Belgian people as a lordly gift by King Leopold II in the first decade of this century.

This heir—presumptive is Joseph Kasavubu, ex-accountant, 43-year-old father of seven children, burgomaster (mayor) of Dendale, one of Leopoldville's African municipalities.

Joseph Kasavubu, who, like Kenya's Tom Mboya, whom I interviewed the other day, talks tough in a gently pleading voice. But a man who knows exactly what he wants and what the timing is going to be.

Power

For Joseph Kasavubu the timing is NOW! This is 12 o'clock for the Belgians in the Congo as far as Joseph Kasavubu is concerned.

This is where the Africans take over. Take over everything. Take over the motor-cars. The good jobs. The wealth of the mines, the banks. The lot.

Joseph Kasavubu, who knows a good deal about take-overs already. Who took over a semi-moribund organisation, called Abako devoted to cultural ends, keeping Congolese languages alive—that sort of thing.

Joseph Kasavubu has other ideas. Within three or four years he transformed Abako into a potent political unit. He captured Leopoldville politically by a three-to-one vote. He became mayor of Dendale.

Welcome

He is backed to the hilt by his homogeneity-loving people of "The Lower River."

I drove out from the smooth skyscraper European zone of down-town Leopoldville into the fairly well-manicured shantytown of Dendale. Mine was just about the only white face in 350,000 faces. An odd feeling. A group of rather off-handed black police, in red tunics and faded blue uniforms, watched two of their number play draughts with the metal caps of soft-drink bottles.

In his little office Kasavubu made me welcome in his tiny mowing voice and got right down to brass tacks. "We want power, now," he said.

"Oh, yes, the Belgians can stay here if they like. We shall not chase them away. But we shall be the masters. I aim to form a federation of the Congo, based on the American or Swiss model. My Lower Congo will be an autonomous republic, part of the new federation."

What about next month's elections? I queried (the first step in a Belgian-sponsored plan to give the Congo eventual independence in four years' time).

"The Abako party is banning the elections completely and utterly," rejoined Kasavubu, speaking in French in his little voice.

"We reject Belgium's independence by stages plan out of hand. Our position is simple: total power at once."

Kasavubu went on: "When we have independence we shall leave the door open to all nations."

What about Russia?

"We shall feel free to make what alliances and relationships we wish. We shall make business deals with Britain or with anyone else."

The twin fountain pens in Kasavubu's shirt twinkled a little as he breathed.

Question: "Has the example of Nkrumah's Ghana had anything to do with your determined drive for independence?"

Answer: "No. It is simply part of a process which has been going on everywhere all over the world since the war."

Question: "What about the vast riches of the Congo? Just how are they going to be dealt with when you are running things?"

Another small-smile answer: "These Congo riches will not be jointly controlled, but in future we, the Africans, will have a say in how they are handled. Europe has helped us in the past. We shall help Europe in the future."

Pattern

I threw him a toughie. Question: "Do you aim to be the big boss of the new set-up?"

Answer: "I don't know. I am just a liberty fighter. The day when our nation is free it will be up to the people to choose. If they choose me, why then, I'll accept."

Burgomaster Kasavubu shook me politely by the hand. Then he got into his shiny motor-car. A big, shiny American job. Of course. Two-tone tinted. Of course. And was driven away. By his chauffeur. Of course.

Postscript: A little later I watched Belgian Government officials as, feet-faced, they read reports pouring in from Usumbura, reports of yet another ugly outburst of violence.

This time it is the Bahutus against the Watutsis, in the remote and mountainous kingdom of Ruanda—Urundi, a dependency of Belgian Congo.

While scores of houses burned, the Bahutus battled fiercely against their feudal lords, the Watutsis, herdsmen of Hamite origin who still venerate the cow as a god.

Belgian Congolese troops are being airlifted into Usumbura, capital of the little kingdom which nestles against the borders of Ruanda—Urundi and Tanganyika.

Coincidence, this newest outbreak? Just one of those things, that there should have been five separate outbreaks of violence in the Congo in the year 1959?

Don't believe it for a moment. This pattern of violence is part of a wider plan. A plan that spells a simple three-letter word in a way which cannot be mistaken by Belgium. That word is—NOW.

(London Express Service).

TALKING POINTS

The nation which thinks of nothing but trade will not succeed even in trade.
—VISCOUNT SAMUEL.

Hatred is the coward's revenge for being intimidated.
—BERNARD SHAW.

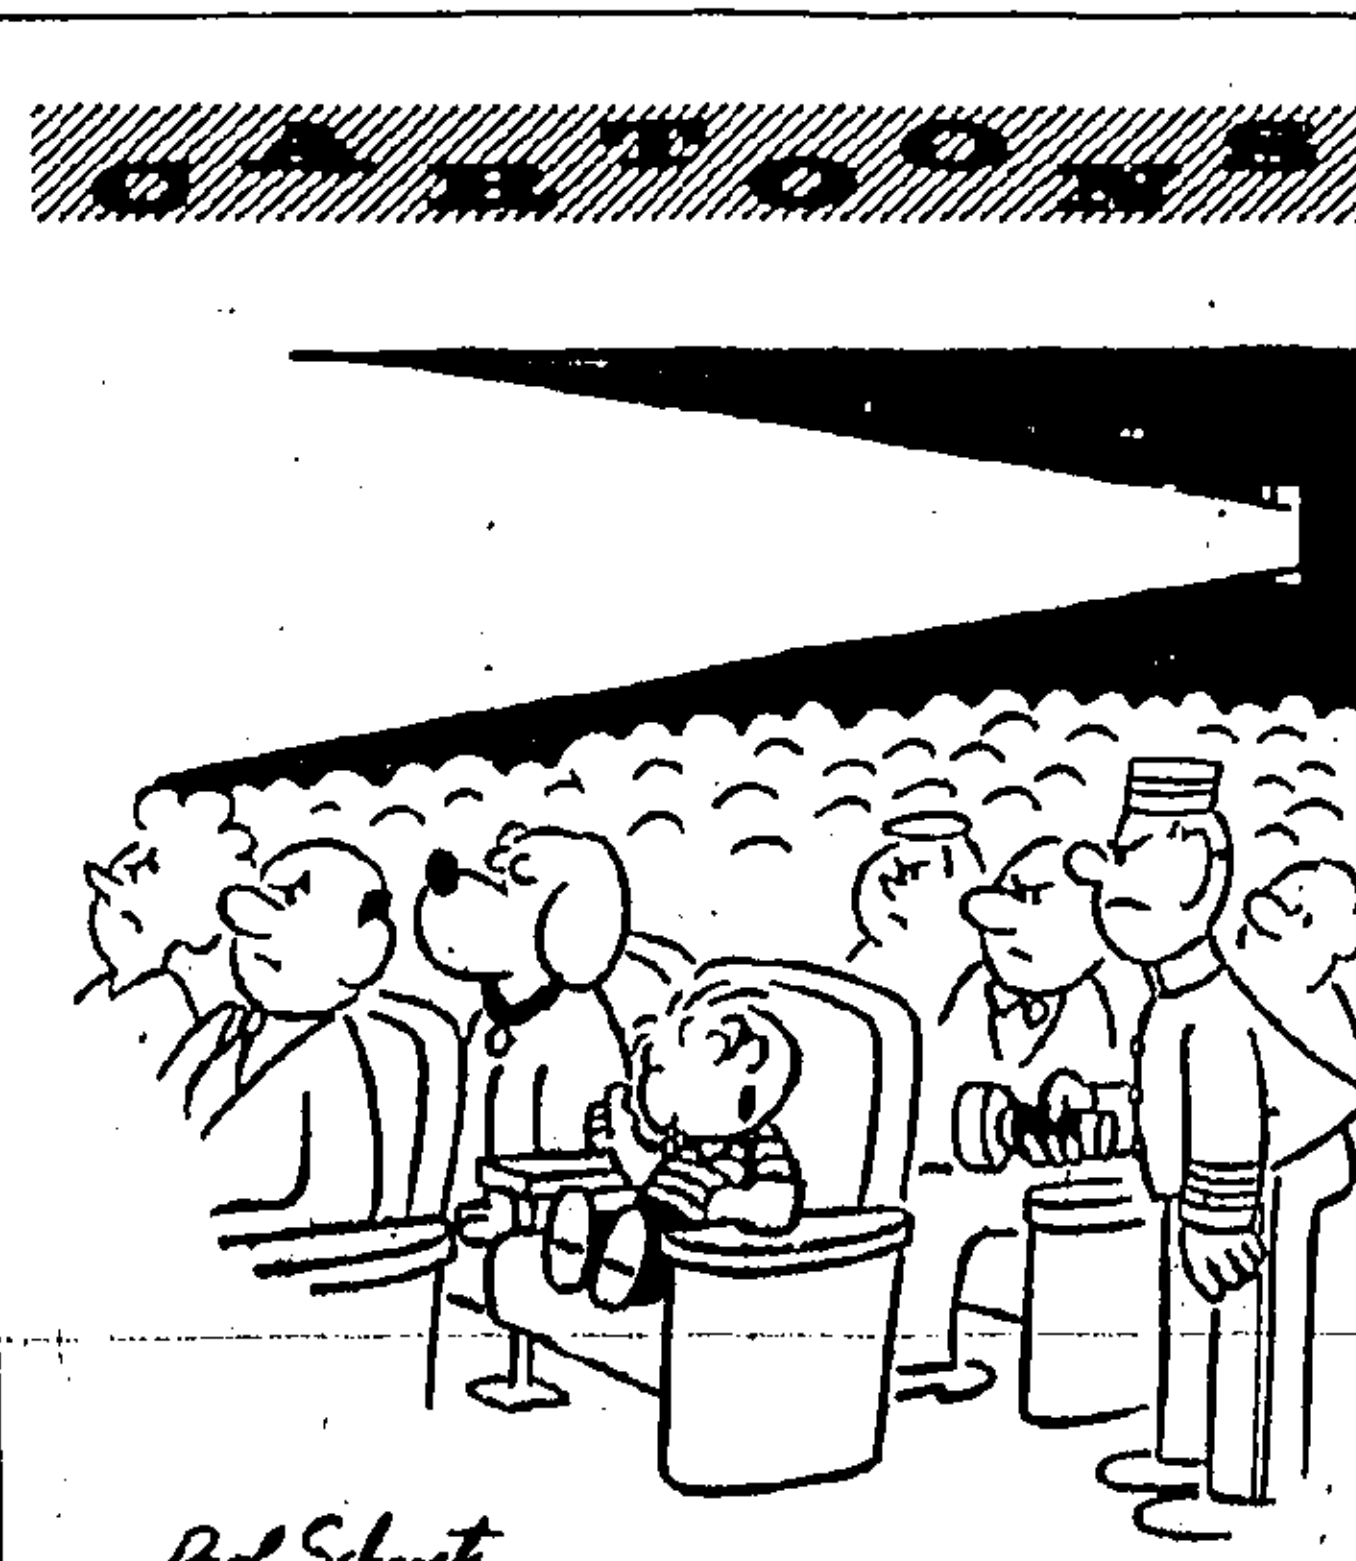

Diligence is the mother of good fortune.
—CERVANTES.

Who lives medically lives miserably.
—BURTON.

Humility is to have a just idea of yourself.
—SPURGEON.

My diet begins after lunch.
—ORSON WELLES.

(London Express Service).

Bob Schuchman

(London Express Service).

Cummings

... And next it will be Dr. Adenauer who'll want to keep up with the Joneses

London Express Service

The exclusive 'rags to riches' story of Charlie See, the famous photographer whose slogan is...

I want to shoot the world!

CHARLIE See quickly jumped to his feet.

"Don't move!"

Click! And in that split second my photograph joined one of the world's most extensive collections.

Charlie, at present in Hongkong, then sank back into his chair and drawled, "That's right man, I just want to shoot the world."

In a few short minutes of my introduction to Charlie it needed very few questions to establish just why this ex-dancer, ex-entertainer and ex-odd "jobber" is now regarded in many circles as the world's top lensman.

"I'll explain it in one word—drive, friend, just drive—no hidden talents," he said.

But you would have to see Charlie to know just what he means by the word "drive."

Within seconds of shaking hands with me he had taken my photograph. In the space of breathing time he had started to interview me!

Quick Change

One minute he is sitting and talking quietly, the next he is looking intently deep into your eyes and listening like a young student bent on getting the best out of a school lesson.

Seconds later he has leapt to his feet fervently showing photographs of the world's most beautiful women—the department of photography which he has commanded for several years.

In fact, the department of photography which Hongkong will see when he opens the "World of Beauty" exhibition at the Sincere Department Store today.

The Essence

The exhibition will display the fruits of Charlie's globetrotting photography over the past 10 years. From every part of the world Charlie will display the beauty he has captured with his camera.

Despite the reason of "drive" Charlie gives for his success, spectators will see a rare essence in photography that could be

By

Steve Dunleavy

China Mail Reporter

reproduced by only a master of the profession.

Charlie's story of how he attained this enviable status justifiably falls in the "rags to riches" bracket that is so often typical of successful men.

"No. I didn't start playing with a camera at the age of two," he said.

"I was born in Penang, Malaya and, at an early age, became interested in entertaining."

Good Living

"I was a dancer and entertainer for the troops during the war and afterwards made quite a good living from show business."

"I can't really say whether I could take a photograph properly before I took it up seriously," he added.

Actually it was Charlie's decision to take up photography that practically introduced him to starvation.

QUOTE

—by Sir Miles Thomas, chairman of the British Productivity Council, in London:—

"It is no good preaching efficiency and new techniques to the chap on the workshop floor if the office side is way behind the times, with its head buried ostrich-like in piles of paper."

(London Express Service).

Charlie See explaining a technical point with one of his snaps of the latest "Miss Universe."

when I doubted that I would ever make the grade," he said.

"To get my three square meals a day I did all kinds of jobs."

"In fact very often I didn't get my three square meals a day. I nearly starved."

"I ended up by tramping from door to door taking hundreds of home portrait photographs."

"Then my opportunity came when I crunched a lensman's job at the big nightclub of the time 'The Mogambo'."

"That was just 10 years ago and I haven't looked back since," Charlie said.

Big Break

From the official nightclub photographer's job, Charlie went on to photograph the first "Miss Universe" contest which started eight years ago.

It was during one of these contests that Charlie got his second big break.

"While I was still learning to be a good photographer I decided to try taking the entire competition in colour," he said.

"Half-way through the competition Universal Studios thought they would like to have a technicolour record of the contest."

"Word got round that I had such a record and in true Hollywood style, the bigwigs of the company summoned me to the studios dead on midnight."

"I was rushed into the filming room where my film was put on the screen in a few minutes."

"The bosses liked it and I clicked," he added.

For the past three years Charlie has accompanied the winners of the "Miss Universe" Contest on their prize-winning tours round the world.

"Who, I hope, can arrange to arrive three days earlier so that she can get a good look at the city," Charlie put in.

"While we're on the subject... that girl is the most perfect of the Miss Universes—she's wonderful," he added.

Asked how much of his profession was business and how much pleasure Charlie quickly replied:

"I get a good living out of it and meet lots of important people, but most of all I just love people, their expressions and plain old photography."

"That's right man, I just want to shoot the world."

We shook hands, he opened the door—then from behind my back—

"Don't move!" Click! That man had done it again...

POCKET CARTOON by OSBERT LANCASTER

"What will poor Mr. Selwyn Lloyd do now that General de Gaulle has decided that all foreign affairs must be temporarily suspended?"

London Express Service

JUST FANCY THAT... examines those coughs and sneezes

Fact strip on COLDS Only 10% of people catch colds in winter. They catch them from the air, not from the person who has a cold.	Are colds connected with cold? Scientists put people in wet bathing costumes. They caught colds from the wet clothes, not from the water.	But if someone where you work or at home has a cold... The odds are 1 in 10 that you will catch it!	Colds last more working days than strikes... For every 1 day lost for strikes, 10 are lost for colds.	Women catch more colds than men. For every 7 men with colds, there are 10 women.
---	---	---	---	--

London Express Service

WOMANSENSE

Towards the gay days!

BLACK AND WHITE CHECKED MOIRÉ MAKES A DIOR-INSPIRED COAT WITH DROPPED SHOULDERS, A WIDE BACK, LOW SET POCKETS. BY WALLIS.

PURE CAMEL HAIR FOR A SIMPLE COAT, SATIN LINED. BY KASHMOOR. WITH IT, COLORED PRINTED JERSEY TURBAN HAT. BY DOLORES.

WHITE NYLON WOVEN WITH A SPANGLY LUREX THREAD FOR A YOUNG SHORT EVENING DRESS. THE SKIRT BUOYED OUT WITH ATTACHED PETTICOATS. BY LONDON TOWN.

WINTER COTTON IS VIVIDLY PRINTED WITH HUGE SCOPED POPPY HEADS FOR A SCOOP NECKED SHEATH. THE SKIRT IS NARROWLY DRAPED, SLIT AT THE FRONT. BY SAMBO.

WHITE NYLON IS HORIZONTALLY TUCKED FOR A SLIM EVENING SHEATH. IT'S BELTED IN WHITE SATIN, SATIN BOUND AT NECK AND SLEEVES. BY BLANES.

by
JILL BUTTERFIELD

THIS is the season of crowds. And there's only one girl who emerges unscathed from it all—that's the girl who's dressed to stand out in the crowd. For she's the one who never fights the battle alone.

CLOTHES TO STAND OUT in a Christmas shopping rush must be tough enough to queue for buses, light enough to be comfortable in over-heated Santa-packed shops. Pockets are handy (bus fares, handkerchiefs, gloves), hair is better tucked under an enveloping hat than wisping on your shoulders.

In the stand

CLOTHES TO STAND OUT when you're watching a match must, above all, be warm. Your tiny hand could be frozen solid before he'd spare it a thought. He'd be bored by hair that blows out of curl, impatient with frozen feet. Stock up on hoods (smarter than headscarves), warm lined gloves, coats that are all warmth and no weight.

CLOTHES TO STAND OUT at a jam-packed cocktail party can be anything BUT black this winter. Think about the season's darling winter white, about exotically printed cotton. Choose a dress with a pretty neckline (it's all he'll see above the sea of shoulders).

In the crush

CLOTHES TO STAND OUT in the crush of a theatre must be narrow and neat enough not to fuss either of you. Look for skirts that don't seat, dresses that sit pretty, straight simple shapes.

CLOTHES TO STAND OUT at a winter dance are the easiest of the lot. Choose from strong, dramatic shapes or, if you are young enough, dresses that look as if they are spun from sugar and dreams. Your reward—dancing every dance, aching feet, the satisfaction of being that girl who stands out in a crowd.

BRIGHT NAVY BLUE DRESS WITH TONED REEFER JACKET. WHITE WOOLLEN HOOD MITTENS. ALL BY JAEGER.

CUDDLY FUR FABRIC JACKET IN COFFEE, BROWN, WHITE, OR GREY. BY ALEXON.

CAMEL COLOURED VELOUR JACKET, TARTAN LINED. BY JULIUS. WITH IT, THOCOLETTE'S FAISLEY EDGED HOOD. —(London Express Service).

STORIES FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

Preparing For Winter

—The Shadows Lend Blinkie Mole A Helping Hand—

By MAX TRELL

HANID, the Shadow Girl with the Turned-Around Name, heard the Magic Telephone ring. It was hidden behind the bookcase where no one could see it except those who lived in the Playroom.

Hand ran to the Magic Telephone.

Answers Telephone

"Hello," she said, "who is it?" For several minutes the Shadow Girl spoke to someone on the other end of the telephone. Finally she said:

"Yes, we'll be over right away, Blinkie. Please wait for us with your door open. Good-bye."

A moment later, Hand was talking to her brother Knarf who was lying face down on the floor, looking at the stamps in a stamp album.

Blinkie Called

"Blinkie just called," said Hand to her brother.

"Did he?" asked Knarf. "What did he want?"

"He wanted us to come right over and help him with his work. He's putting things away for the winter."

Knarf shook his head complainingly. "I don't feel like helping Blinkie with his work. I don't feel like helping anybody. I'm too hungry."

Pulled Him Up

Hand half pulled her lazy brother to his feet.

"Blinkie never has anything good to eat!" Knarf complained.

Hand held on to her brother's arm while they crossed to the back of the garden, climbed over the stone wall and walked around in the back of a very old and very twisted stump of an apple tree.

"There's Blinkie now!" Hand cried. "Look! He's standing by his open door just as he said he would."

Stood Inside Doorway

Sure enough, there was Blinkie Mole, standing just inside his doorway where the light of the sun couldn't reach his eyes. For Blinkie never could stand sunlight in his eyes.

"My eyes are pretty bad," he would always explain. "The light makes them hurt. That's why I always wear dark sunglasses."

Blinkie was very happy to see Knarf and Hand.

"There isn't very much to do," he explained as he led the way down a short flight of stairs into his underground apartment.

"But I'll get done much sooner, if we have six hands instead of two," Blinkie added.

All the rest of the afternoon, Knarf and Hand helped Blinkie store up provisions for the cold winter days ahead.

There was buttercup butter that had to be packed in tubs and stored away in the coldest part of Blinkie's cellar.

Put Away Vegetables

There were radishes and cucumbers and potatoes and carrots that had to be put in sacks and stored in cupboards.

There were daisy roots and blackberry roots and raspberry roots and the roots of a dozen plants that had no names that had to be stored away in tins and crocks and jars.

And while all this was going on, Blinkie kept looking into a big barrel which he kept stirring now and then with a huge spoon. The most beautiful sweet smell came out of the barrel.

What's In There?

"Please, Blinkie," said Knarf, who was getting hungrier by the minute, "what's in there?"

But Blinkie rushed off to do some more work and didn't have time to answer Knarf's question.

Sweeter and sweeter grew the smell that came out of the barrel. Finally Knarf couldn't resist it any longer. He put in his finger and tasted it.

Just What He Wants

"Raspberry jelly!" he shouted. "That's just what I wanted."

Blinkie came running over. "You shouldn't have tasted it," he said. "There was a smile on his face as he added, 'The only way to try this jelly is to spread it in thick, on bread.'"

And that's what Knarf did.

Blinkie was very happy to see Knarf and Hand.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Make generous allowances for shrinkage if you plan to wash draperies. A fabric labelled "not to exceed two per cent residual shrinkage" should not shrink more than three-quarters of an inch per yard.

Feather pillows come out light and fluffy after a quick cleansing through an automatic washer and dryer. Fluff pillows without washing by putting them in a dryer if it has a "no heat" setting.

Make a hat hanger for a car with a wire coat hanger. Hold it by the hook and pull the crosswire down to form a square. Hang it by the hook at the side of the car, and put the hat on it.

When cleaning a rug, carpet sweep or vacuum it first, then move furniture to one side of the room and clean that half. Then reverse the process. Work in two-foot square areas. Overlap each stroke, then criss-cross from left to right until the area appears clean. High traffic spots or badly soiled areas may need a second application.

Add a pinch of borax to the water in which lettuce or vegetables are soaking. This makes the green stuff crispier and helps remove dirt and insects.

How To Launder Angora Sweaters

New York. Sometimes OUT of the fashion limelight, this winter, it's very much IN. Angora sweaters in white, black and a whole range of pastels brighten the autumn scene. Despite their fragile appearance, they are easy to launder.

Squeeze them through a solution of lukewarm soap or detergent, rinse well and place flat to dry on a clean towel away from direct heat. As the sweater dries, pick it up two or three times and shake gently to bring up the nap. UPI.

JACOBY on BRIDGE

DR EDWARD CALLETAU of the Baton Rouge became a life master at the Houston Regionals. Like many good players Doc is somewhat of an overbidder. As an example, most players would merely have bid three hearts with the South hand but the Doctor jumped right to game.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the ace and three spot. East played the eight ten and Jack in that order and Doc decided that West had started with five clubs. He also marked him with five spades for his vulnerable overcall.

Doc ruffed the third club, decided to lay down the ace of hearts and continued with the nine after West's queen fell.

♥♦CARD SENSE♦♥

Q—The bidding has been:
East South West North
1♣ 1♦ 1♥ 1♠
Pass 7
You, South, hold:
♠A Q 7 6 5 4 3 2 ♦A 8 5
What do you do?

A—Bid one heart. You have a good hand but unless your partner can find a voluntary bid you have no game.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner raises to two hearts. What do you do now?
Answer Tomorrow

NORTH 19
♠7	♥10 6 5 4	♦A J 10 9 7	♣5 4
WEST
♠K Q 10 6 3	♥A 8 4	♦K 8 2	♣A 7 3
♠Q	♥5 3	♦Q 8 4	♣J 10 8
SOUTH (D)
♠A J 8 2	♥A J 9 7 3	♦K 2	♣Q 2
East and West vulnerable
South	West	North	East
1♥	1♣	2♥	Pass
4♥	Pass	Pass	Pass
Opening lead—♠K

East took his king and led back the nine of spades. Doc took his ace, pulled East's last trump and was now ready for the diamond suit.

He had already counted West for ten black cards and one heart. That left him with exactly two diamonds so Doc took his king of diamonds, led a small diamond to dummy's ace and played the jack of diamonds from dummy. East was ready with a low diamond but Doc was ready also. He discarded a spade and made the ambitious game contract.

LADY LUCK

your CHINA MAIL horoscope

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 30

AQUARIUS (January 21-February 19): It may be taking a risk to make too hasty a decision about your exciting new idea. Give it a few days to mature.

PISCES (February 20-March 20): When considering an important move don't forget that the family comes first.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Knowing the one weak spot in your character to be the impulsive spending of money, you ought to try and live on a reasonable budget.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You made a very good impression at your last interview and ought to get a favourable reply.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21): When making plans for the future, don't only consider the past, but rather have the needs of the present in mind.

CANCER (June 22-July 21): Since your day is already pretty fully occupied, you should refuse to take on further responsibilities.

LEO (July 22-August 21): Curb your inclination to entertain lavishly. Your friends do not expect it of you.

VIRGO (August 22-September 22): Don't let a promise of early success influence you to relax your efforts.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): You will make a valuable contact whilst visiting a friend, and should try to arrange a further meeting as soon as possible.

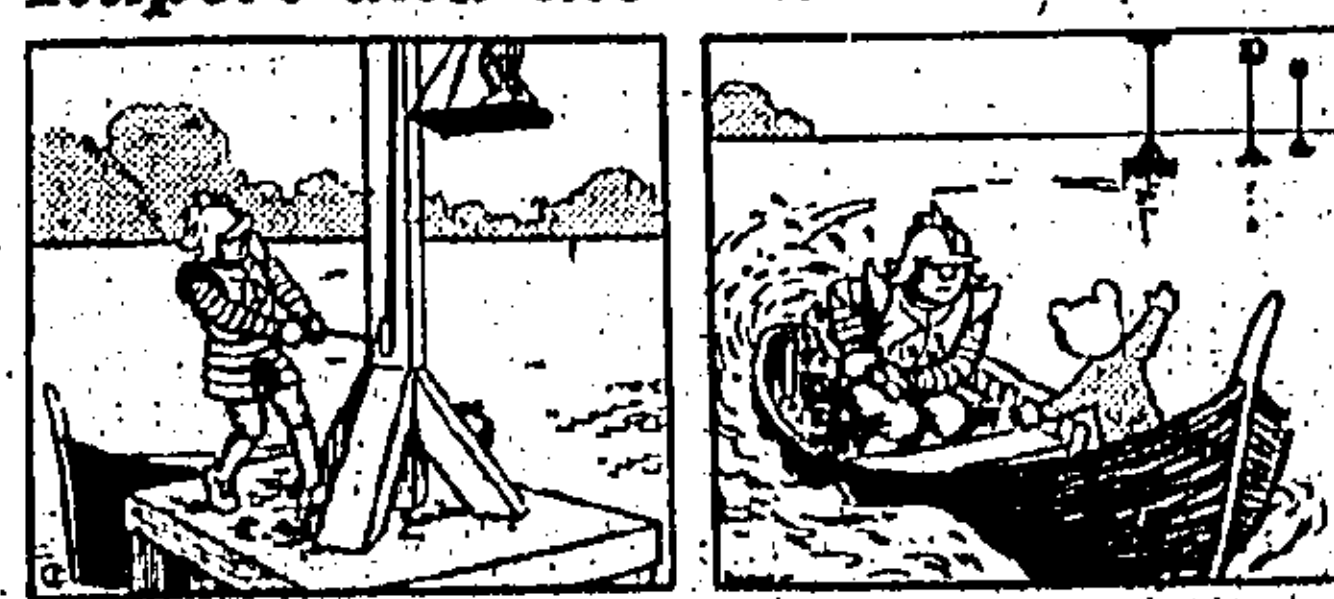

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): Patience with an obstreperous child will be needed, but few are better qualified than you to deal with the problem.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): An opportunity which you seem to have let slip through your fingers may come again.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 20): A chance to observe a mature artist at work will inspire you to use your own considerable talents to the full.

YOUR BIRTHDAY: If your birthday is this week you will find a symbol of good fortune in a gift of a gramophone record.

Rupert and the Whistfish—33

The soldier glides his boat to the platform as before and makes signs to Rupert to stand on the wooden tray, again. Then he takes the strain on the rope and the tray is let down. Once on the platform Rupert turns cheerfully to salute to Sailor Sam that fully to salute to Sailor Sam that

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

Tung Wah . . . 3, Army . . . 1 SOLDIERS OUT OF STEP

Tung Wah Easy Winners Over A Strangely Tired And Lifeless Army Side

By I. M. MacTAVISH

"What a difference a day made" . . . the old popular song which expressed that sentiment might well have been written for the changing scene at Caroline Hill over the weekend. On Saturday the crowd thrilled to the pulsating encounter between Kitchee and Eastern. If they went back to the same ground yesterday in anticipation of a repeat performance they must have been bitterly disappointed. Tung Wah gained two more valuable points by scoring a 3-1 victory over the Army . . . but oh, what a dreary game it turned out to be.

The first half had its moments. The Chinese boys were a shade lucky to go in at 11:00 with a 2-1 lead but when the Army defence gave way the fastest of goals immediately after the restart the bottom fell out of the whole affair.

Once again Tung Wah were deserving winners without ever looking more than just a careful side. They have a sprinkling of stars in vital positions and, except when faced by top class opposition are capable of exploiting their opponents' weaknesses. These are enough to see them through.

Lacking Virility

I cannot remember watching an Army side so lacking in virility as the team that turned out yesterday. After some of their recent over-the-hill games this was a bit of an anti-climax. . . but . . . it would be harsh judgment to blame the players too much.

Successful Army participation in first class football in Hong Kong is a matter of high prestige. Players who are honoured by selection for the Army representative side carry a heavy responsibility but it is now obvious, both from close observation and conversation, that they are, by reason of their footballing ability, being asked to play competitively for too often.

Some of the players who wear the Army colours in first class football at the weekend may have played in three or four minor games during the week. It is not surprising that they look pretty tired.

Quite apart from the physical effort of playing in several games there is always the accumulated effect of trivial injuries which pass unnoticed until a player becomes involved in the stress and strain of a hard first division game.

Army's Problem

This must be a great problem for the Army officials. Unit and Regimental football is naturally important within the military circle and it is understandable that individual units should want the services of their best players . . . but unless some sort of compromise—such as no football after Wednesday for Army footballers—can be established the representative players will seldom be able to give of their best just when it is needed most.

Yesterday many of the soldiers finished the game as though they had just completed one of these new fangled 110 miles long distance marches. But quite apart from the physical aspects of the Army showing they were terribly lacking in ideas. The major weakness was at inside forward. Johns worked hard enough but showed little imagination either in his fetching and carrying or in his service to Watson. Baldwin is not fulfilling his early promise. He is apparently

NOTICE

THE HONG KONG JOCKEY CLUB

Programmes and Entry Forms for the 5th Race Meeting 1959/60 to be held on Saturday 12th and Saturday 19th December, 1959 (weather permitting) may be obtained at the Secretary's Office, Alexandra House; the Club House, Happy Valley; and the Stables, Shan Kwong Road.

Entries close at 12 o'clock NOON on Tuesday, 1st December, 1959.

By Order of the Stewards, A. E. ARNOLD, Secretary.

A Challenger From Gumbtree

Bernie Taylor, 23-year-old South African bantamweight champion, has settled down to serious training for his Empire title fight against champion Freddie Gilroy in Belfast on December 5. But the Irish needn't really worry who wins—5 ft 8 ins, 120 lb Bernie's grandfather was an immigrant from the Old Country. Gumbtree is the Orange Free State town where Bernie was born. In his 60 amateur and eight pro fights so far, Bernie has never been knocked down. Photo shows Taylor during training in London. He cracked: "I feel the advantage is with me. I know all about Gilroy, but he knows nothing about me." — London Express Photo.

finding difficulty in settling down on the bone hard grounds and the lively ball is rather showing up his limitations as a ball-worker.

The Army defence was a strange mixture. Wright did not have a happy game. He made some good clearances but on other days he might have saved all three goals and I'm sure he, and the other defenders, will kick themselves every time they think about the third goal which Tung Wah scored immediately after the interval.

Unstable

The middle line was unstable. Browning worked like a trojan but too often he was caught away upfield. Travers had a good game in the air and he played with lots of determination but he was completely beaten when Cheung Chi-doy scored Tung Wah's first and second goals. He was beaten twice more when the young centre-forward tricked him but just failed to score. Ritchie is a competent win-ner but his distribution is faulty and I believe he will show to still better purpose when he eventually moves to the full-back position.

One could not help but feel a bit sorry for Watson. The winner did not get a decent back-bearing pass in the whole 90 minutes and whenever the ball came in his direction he was played to a standstill by the tenacious, hard-lacking Wong Chi-kong.

There was very little change out of Ng Wai-man but the blonde centre had two good chances and wasted them both. They proved expensive misses. The Army weakness on the left wing continued to give the side an unbalanced look and yesterday Brandon's immobility and lack of pace spoiled several good movements.

No Real Weakness

Tung Wah had no real weakness but Kwok Chow-ming again showed very clear signs of the increasing uncertainty of the increasingly beset him. In this game he mishandled the ball several times and twice was very fortunate not to have his errors translated into goals against him. Immature Lau Chin-kau was the only other 'suspect' member of the line-up but his more experienced colleagues covered his shortcomings with commendable success. Toledo and Wong Chi-kong were a strong pair of full-backs while Chan Fai-tung and Ng Wai-man provided both strength and polish in the middle line.

As one would expect, Yin Cheuk-yin and Lo Kwok-tai were the leading lights in the Tung Wah front rank but young Cheung Chi-doy had his best game since coming into the side. He showed speed, ball control and enterprise which made him a suitable colleague for his star inside-forwards . . . and that is praise indeed.

On the wings Au Pang-lin and Kwong Yin-yang were always capable of fitting into the side's attacking pattern. They were fast and tricky with an eye for an opening. It was a good thing for the Army that Tipper and Big John Higgins bottom kept them on a tight rein. Higbottom, for all his casual attitude, was just about the soldiers' most successful performer.

Started off Well

There was a very small crowd in the Caroline Hill Stadium when the game got underway. Tung Wah started off well but in nine minutes they lost a goal.

Ng Wai-man was very correctly penalised for a tackle on Baldwin. Brandon ran on to the ball and his drive from a spot just outside the penalty area sent the ball sailing into the back of the net. A fine shot and a good goal.

In the next moment Wright prevented an equaliser when he deflected the ball off the goal line with his outstretched foot.

In the 18th minute Cheung Chi-doy slipped through the defence and caught Wright napping with an unexpected shot. Three minutes later the young centre-forward repeated the act by beating the goalkeeper from the right of the penalty area. Tung Wah had the ball in the net again just before the interval but the score was chalked off as Kwong Yin-yang was adjudged offside.

The Army also had their shot of bad luck when a scoring shot came back off the woodwork.

Long Dull Affair

The game really ended immediately after the restart when Lo Kwok-tai scored while the soldiers' defence stood rooted to the spot in confusion.

The second half was a long dull affair. The Army made no more than a half-hearted effort to retrieve the situation and apart from a fleeting moment of excitement just before the final whistle, there was very little to keep the spectators in their seats. Many had gone long before the end.

VERDICT: Tung Wah collected two valuable points. They had the game's few stars and against this strongly listless Army side they were deserving winners.

The Teams

Tung Wah: Kwok Chow-ming, Toledo, Wong Chi-kong, Chan Fai-tung, Ng Wai-man, Lau Chin-kau, Au Pang-lin, Lo Kwok-tai, Cheung Chi-doy, Yiu Cheuk-yin, Kwong Yin-yang. Army: Wright, Tipper, Higbottom, Browning, Travers, Ritchie, Watson, Johns, Raine, Baldwin, Brandon.

Just One More Record

There may be a new record set up in League football this season by Tommy Eglington. Tranmere Rovers' outside-left, the former Everton and Eire winger has converted seven penalties already, and with 25 chances of surpassing the eleven aggregate set up by Jack Ball (Wednesday) and Willie Evans (Spurs) in season 1952-53.

The best post-war total is 10 by Tommy Callender (Gateshead), nine years ago. — Baner Service.

PEN SKETCHES OF MCC TOURISTS

DAVID ALLEN—SUCCESSOR TO TONY LOCK

David Allen, the 24-year-old Gloucestershire off-spinner, delivered only 29 overs for his county first eleven last year, taking two wickets for 102 runs, an average of 51. This year he has become the second most successful bowler in English first-class cricket—only Brian Statham had better bowling figures—and without any Test experience, he has gained a place on the West Indies tour.

Allen has matured rapidly, but only the dearth of top-class spinners explains his selection for the M.C.C. party. Following the retirement of Laker, the bowling action trouble of Lock, and the disappointing form of Mortimore, the selectors were forced to take a gamble.

David Allen was the obvious choice since the England selectors have been concentrating on youth and team-building. Last season he claimed 84 county championship wickets at a cost of 15.72 runs a piece.

Ill-Luck

Extreme ill-luck has denied him previous Test experience. The selectors named him for the fifth Test against India this year and then he lost his first England honour by dislocating a finger in Tom Graveney's benefit match.

It was the cruellest possible blow to such an eager young cricketer. But within a few days his disappointment changed to delight as he was named for the West Indies.

Like Test players Arthur Milton and John Mortimore, Bristol-born Allen was educated at Colham Grammar School. At 14, he captained a Bristol Boys XI and later joined the Gloucestershire indoor school for coaching.

After a spell in local club matches he made a spectacular start in county cricket in 1952. In his fourth match, against Surrey at Bristol, 18-year-old Allen took six wickets for 11 runs and was carried shoulder-high off the field by cheering friends.

National Service badly hampered Allen's progress and when he returned after two years' absence he found that Mortimore and Wells were firmly established as the county's off-spin bowlers.

Batting Abilities

Not until this year did he gain a regular place in the first team and strangely he was first promoted because of his batting abilities. He won his county cup after sound batting against Hampshire last May and he had his chance with the ball when Mortimore was playing representative cricket.

His best bowling performance (7 for 60) came in the match against Lancashire at Gloucester and he hit 64 runs against Derbyshire at Bristol.

Allen has sacrificed some flight for a little more speed this season. He has developed a subtle variation of pace and takes a short, economical run to the wicket.

His style is well-suited to Gloucestershire cricket where the wickets are notoriously favourable to spinners, and his wristy action should bring response even from the sun-baked pitches of the Caribbean.

TOMORROW: Keith Andrew

Italy, Hungary Draw In Geroe Cup Soccer

Florence, Nov. 29. Italy and Hungary drew one-all after no score at half-time in their international football match here today.

Hungary let the chance of winning the last "Geroe Cup" for Central European nations slip through their feet when Italy equalised the score on a penalty kick in the second half.

With an unbeatable total of 10 points Czechoslovakia won the cup dedicated to Joseph Geroe, former president of the Austrian Football Federation. This cup will now be replaced by the "Nations Cup".

Hungary was second with 15 points. The game which was played under grey skies at Florence's stadium was watched by 60,000 spectators.—AFP.

DJURGARDENS WIN IN INDONESIA

Djakarta, Nov. 29. The Swedish soccer team Djurgardens scored their first victory in Indonesia this evening when they beat the Bandung eleven by two goals to one at Djakarta's Ikada Stadium.

The visitors who had drawn one-all yesterday in their first encounter with the local Garuda team put up a brilliant display today and dominated the game throughout.

The local team's only goal was scored when Swedish goalkeeper Arvidsson was caught on the wrong foot by Indonesian inside-right Timisela. The score at half-time was two to one in favour of the Swedes.—AFP.

Inter-Varsity Rugby Teams Completed

Oxford, Nov. 29.

Oxford University's team to meet Cambridge in the Inter-Varsity Rugby Union match at Twickenham on December 8 was completed today.

The two vacancies left when the side was announced last week will be filled by R. W. Sharp (Balliol), at fly-half and J. R. S. Higham (Wadham) in the second row.

Sharp yesterday returned to the Oxford side after a long absence because of injury. Cambridge University today also named the three players to complete their team.

P. R. Mills and F. C. Inglis (both Calis College) fill the wing three-quarter vacancies, while Freshman A. Lewis, of Christ's College, wins his Blue at full-back.—Reuter.

CHESS NEWS

by LEONARD BARDEN

In the following miniature (Marshall v. von Soldatenhoff)

a great attacking master is defeated with his own weapons: 1 P-K4, P-K4; 2 P-KB4, P-Q4; 3 P-QP, P-K5; 4 P-Q3, R-KB3; 5 P-P, K-KP; 6 Q-K2, Q-P7; 7 K-Q2, P-KB4; 8 P-KK4; 9 P-KK4; 10 P-KK4; 11 K-B1, Castles; 12 P-P, K-K; 13 B-K4, Q-BP; 14 B-K4, P-B3; 15 K-B3, B-B5 ch; 16 K-K1, Q-B1; 17 Q-Q3, P-C4; 18 B-P7 ch; 19 K-B1, P-K5; 20 K-KR, K-Q8; 21 Q-Q5, K-K4 ch; 22 R-R3, P-B3; 23 K-K7 mate, or 21 P-P, K-B7 mate.

Solution No. 5725: 1 B-K1 (not 1 B-K7, 2 B-K7, 3 B-K5 ch, 4 R-K1 or R2; 5 B-K4, 6 K-K5; 7 Q-R4 mate.

London: Express Service.

WEEKEND SOFTBALL

New Asia College Score Grand Upset Victory Over Favoured Cheyennes

By OLLY VAS

Underdogs New Asia College won a place in the hearts of the crowd yesterday when they scored an upset 13-11 victory over the highly favoured joint league leaders, Cheyennes, in a Junior League match. In other softball matches played off over the weekend, double-figure scores were the order of the day. The Cheyennes thrashed the Saints 24-7 behind a 23-hit attack and the Braves comfortably beat the U.S. Navy 14-1 in the Senior division.

In the ladies' section SCAA accounted for the Matadors 13-2 and in the Junior game played off on Saturday the Dodgers beat the Pandas 16-3.

New Asia batted first and were retired in order but this was only the hill before the storm. The Cheyennes quickly forged ahead 3-0 but were in for a surprise moments later.

After the Cheyennes had made it 6-0 in the top of the second the Collegians got the range of Reggie Hamet's pitching. Hamet gave up three walks and was tagged for four hits as the students lit it up at six-all. Mentor Remedios wisely allowed Hamet to continue pitching. Hamet very properly showed his appreciation of this nice gesture by giving up another two runs. The score was now 8-6 in favour of New Asia.

Recalling it was no time for sentiment Remedios had Hamet replaced by Henry Vianna but it was a little late. New Asia had got used to seeing the ball delivered regularly at just the right waist-high level and the batters were popping safe hits over the infield, just beyond the reach of the Cheyenne outfielders.

When the cheering from the stands had died down and the last New Asia batter finally tossed out at first—the scoreboard read New Asia 10, Cheyennes 6.

After this disastrous inning the Cheyennes settled down to reduce the deficit. In the top of the fourth inning a series of fielding errors by the winners led in four runs and the ball game was tied at 10 runs apiece.

Neat Double Play

New Asia added another run in the fourth inning and the Cheyennes were unable to make any headway against a stubborn defence in the bottom half of the fifth inning.

In the top half of this frame some opportunistic base-running by New Asia and a wild pitch by Vianna led in two runs and New Asia were now in the lead 13-10.

The Cheyennes had a chance to catch up in the sixth after holding the Collegians scoreless in the fifth.

With two away New Asia pulled off a very neat double play on the losers. David Ullman was tossed out at first and Vic Britto, headed for home plate after a late take-off was greeted by the New Asia catcher with ball in hand. Shafer scored on a wild pitch a little later to lower the margin to 13-11.

Despite getting two hits in their turn at bat in the top of the seventh New Asia were unable to add to the score.

Lester Wa and all when in an endeavour to score the tying run for the Cheyennes he was tagged out at third base, with two down, to end the game with the New Asia team worthy and popular winners, to judge from the applause from the stands.

Captain Doug Murray has good reason to feel proud of his boys as they fought tooth and nail to protect their lead. The winners played excellent defensive softball in the dying stages of the game.

As for the Cheyennes I hope they will take a word of advice from an impartial observer. Get another catcher. He hasn't the faintest idea just how to, as softball jargon has it, "call the pitches".

Sports Diary

TO-DAY

H.K. Rugby Association annual meeting at Board Room of Hong Kong Club, 5.30 p.m.

H.K. Amateur Swimming Association Executive Committee meeting at Club Matinee, 2.30 p.m.

TO-MORROW

British 100 Yards Race Meeting close at noon.

Local Club Meetings: H.K. Club, 7.30 p.m.; H.K. Club, 7.30 p.m.; H.K. Club, 7.30 p.m.

THE GAMBOLS . . .

By Barry Appleby

Cooking Problems Solved

FUSILIERS AGAIN FAIL TO TURN UP FOR WEEKEND RUGBY MATCH

Wanderers Given Hard Fight By RAF Little Sai Wan Before Winning 13-8

On Friday evening the Hongkong Rugby Union discussed, among other things, the failure of rugby XV's to turn out for their fixtures, while at the same time failing to let anyone else, with the possible exception of their opponents, know that the game had been cancelled. The HKRU agreed that this sort of thing must cease and that all XV's must play as specified in the fixture list.

And then on Saturday afternoon, the 1st Royal Northumberland Fusiliers, a team which has been found guilty of this behaviour before, failed to appear at all, without any warning to the referee or their opponents, the 32nd Medium Regiment.

To entertain the spectators the 32nd Medium willingly agreed to play a Sevens match, but although this was entertaining it was not what the spectators turned out to watch. This sort of thing must not go on, and as this is by no means the first time that this Regiment has defaulted, this column suggests that their name be deleted from the fixture list, and that Secretaries of teams engaged to play them contact other fifteens, and arrange new fixtures in lieu of their present ones. This team only appears six more times in the whole season's fixture lists so their presence will not be missed, or should that read their absence will not be missed.

Borrowed Players

In the other games, Club "A" as expected had a clear cut win against a very spirited scratch side by 17 points to nil, and Club "B", with a few borrowed players played very poorly indeed losing to 5th Field by 17 points (one goal, two tries, one penalty goal) to nil.

On the other side of the harbour the Wanderers had a hard battle to overcome RAF Little Sai Wan by 13 points (two goals, one try) to eight (one goal, one penalty goal), and in the other match at Kai Tak the airman showed much more spirit than of late, before finally going under to the Sappers in a scrappy game by six points (two tries) to nil.

RAF Little Sai Wan v. Wanderers

The Wanderers, with Cleary and Clarke showing up well in the lineouts, dominated forward play, while Smith

Mixed Hockey Played At Little Sai Wan

An enjoyable mixed hockey match was played at Little Sai Wan yesterday. The two teams were made up of members of the Gremlins ladies hockey team and the RAF — each side consisting of five ladies and six of the 'stronger sex'.

In the first half the "Colours" were on top and scored twice through Petrie, the second goal going through the goalkeeper's legs.

The second half saw the "Whites" coming back into the game and they drew level, with goals from Gregory and Evans. Evans' goal being an excellent shot off the back-stick. Throughout the match, tackling was hard and a 2-2 draw was just about a fair result. All the players thoroughly enjoyed themselves and organisers of the match are hoping that more mixed matches will follow this one.

The teams in yesterday's match were:
Whites: P. Matthews, S. Frampton, H. Patterson, S. Reynolds, J. Hall, R. Eddy, D. Murphy, R. Gregory, C. Davis, R. Evans, P. Whitaker.
Colours: B. Miller, K. Foulds, M. Kresswell, B. Hall, M. Wallace, E. Harper, S. Talati, R. Petrie, D. Connick, L. Watts, C. Reynolds.

Empire Games Profit

The Empire Games held in Cardiff last year made a profit of £35,000 and this sum is to be invested to enable a Welsh team to be sent to Perth, Australia, in 1962. To send a representative team of about twenty another £25,000 will still be needed in addition to the interest on the investment. —Banana Service.

behind the scrum had an excellent game and managed to make Kirkland also look very good.

Smith certainly gave his three every chance to get going, but the centres were inclined to crowd the wings, and at times the passing was weak. Moffat and Davies were the best of the back division, with Moffat definitely outshining his partner.

The RAF three tried hard, especially Low and McInlay but all along this three line the passing was very poor and sloppy. Losses were the order of the day, but should these boys ever revert to crisp passing they will take some beating for they were good in every other department, though their tackling could have been better.

Take The Blame

For their bad handling blame must go to the two halves. Gibson at scrum-half was too keen, and stood far too close to his pack, and when they had to retreat he was overrun, and was out of position compared to his own three who were pulled in close and flat by Fielding standing right on Gibson's heels. In fact once Gibson appeared to step back on to Fielding's toes, which shows inferior positioning. Both halves were keen enough, but this was not sufficient, and they seldom got their three moving smoothly.

The first score came after steady RAF pressure, which incidentally never looked like producing a try, when the Wanderers were penalised for offside, and Low converted from 35 yards, well out. 3-0.

By PAK LO

This reverse spurred the Wanderers and they retaliated with a strong attack, in which the three were seen to good advantage. However, they were caught on the line and the airman touched down. From the drop-out, there was a scrum-back, and the Wanderers heeled. The ball moved out to the wing, with Moffat, his winger, coming inside him as he used up the ground. Davies was tackled, but not before he managed to pass in to Moffat who broke through the rest of the way and scored well out. No conversion. 3-3.

14 Men

Five minutes before half-time the Wanderers went ahead when they were given a penalty just inside the airman's half. The Wanderers took the short kick and the ball moved across to Moffat who barged his way through his would-be tacklers to cross in the corner, and then double round to touch down under the posts. Clarke converted. 6-3.

In the second half the airman were reduced to 14 men after 15 minutes but this seemed to make little difference to them, and the Wanderers late in this half scored again.

The pack had pushed their way in a scrum five yards from the RAF line. There the ball was heeled out quickly and Smith whipped it straight to Kirkland, who took it in the run, and going blind, barged through some tacklers to score near the posts. Clarke converted. 13-3.

Finally the airman in their best three move of the day sent the ball out to McInlay who broke through and crossed well out before going to touch down under the posts. Low converted. 13-6.

RAF Kai Tak v. Sappers

This was throughout a scrappy game, the only interest lying in the fact that the airman looked much improved.

They were beaten in the tight, for which Winn was to blame, as he cornered the ball for the Sappers with unflinching regularity, but in the loose the airman were much more effective.

The passing on both sides was not first class, and it was mainly this that contributed to the airman's duck for one short period, in which the Sappers scored their second try, they were never out of the Sappers' half but lack of penetration and poor finishing robbed them of what might well have been a surprise victory.

FLICK—AND IT'S A GOAL

The ball soars past Arsenal goalkeeper Kelsey, after West Ham centre-forward Obeney (right) had flicked it when falling, to notch the second goal for the 'Hammers' in the First Division London "Derby" at Highbury recently. Dodgin, Arsenal centre-half looks round in dismay as Obeney falls. At left is Arsenal left-back McCullough. West Ham won 3-1.—Reuterphoto.

The Sappers' pack put in a lot of hard work, but their three missed many opportunities. Walker and Myers were the two scorers.

Club "B" v. 5th Field Regiment

The 5th Field certainly deserved their victory here, and had they not allowed the Club team to drag them down to their level now and then they would have won even more convincingly.

The Gunners' backs were the biggest danger to the Club, especially Williams at stand-off, and their passing was good and crisp.

Heron and Hodgekiss distinguished themselves, and Whitmore was easily the best forward on display. In fact the latter greatly aided the Club's downfall by playing to the Club fullback (a borrowed player) who seemed to have next to no knowledge of the game.

The forwards on both sides were going hard, but the Club pack having fought hard for the ball, never seemed to know what to do with it once they had possession.

The 5th Field pack also showed the same fault but not to the same extent, and had they more enthusiastically fed their three the dials in the scoring could have been reversed. They certainly, as far as Club "B" was concerned, deserved to be.

Heron Scores

Heron opened the scoring when he got the ball five yards from the Club line in a loose maul, after a good forward rush, and touched down in the corner. No conversion. 3-0.

Heron scored again in the 17th minute when another forward rush by the Gunners took the ball to the Club 25. After being heeled the ball travelled across the three to Heron who scored in the corner. No conversion. 6-0. Just on half-time Peasley converted a penalty for obstruct-tion from the 25, in front of the posts to make it 9-0.

In the second half Heron again had a lovely run down the centre, passed out to Hodgekiss but the latter was caught, and the Club seemed safe when they were awarded a penalty in the loose maul. However, they kicked it straight into Heron's hands. Heron whipped down the wing and passed inside to his own full-back who was following him up the wing. The latter touched down under the posts. Heron missed the conversion. 12-0.

Finally Club were caught in possession on their own 25 and the ball went to Hodgekiss who dummied his way through and sent Peasley over in the corner. Peasley continued his run round to touch down under the posts, and Williams converted. 17-0.

FOR LONGER SAFER MILEAGE

- ★ Fast Straight Line Stops
- ★ Full Resistance to Skidding
- ★ Quieter and Cooler running

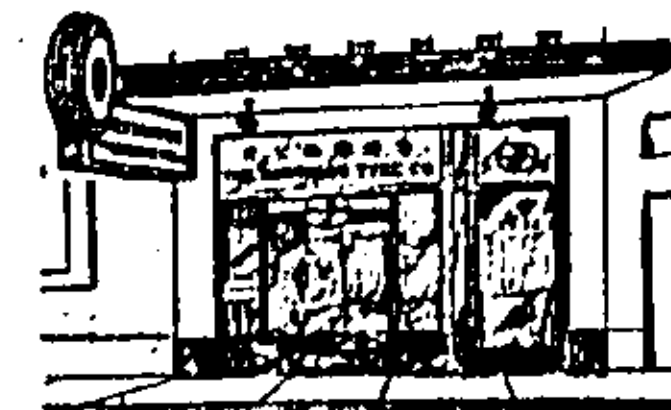

Sole Agents:

THE HONGKONG TYRE CO.
"HK" QUALITREADS

Every tyre passes rigid inspection inside and out before recapping. For new-tread mileage and safety at less than half the cost of new tyres, you can't beat famous "HK" Qualitread.

- ★ Factory-Approved Equipment
- ★ Specially-Trained Men
- ★ Factory-Controlled Methods
- ★ General Tyre Quality Rubber

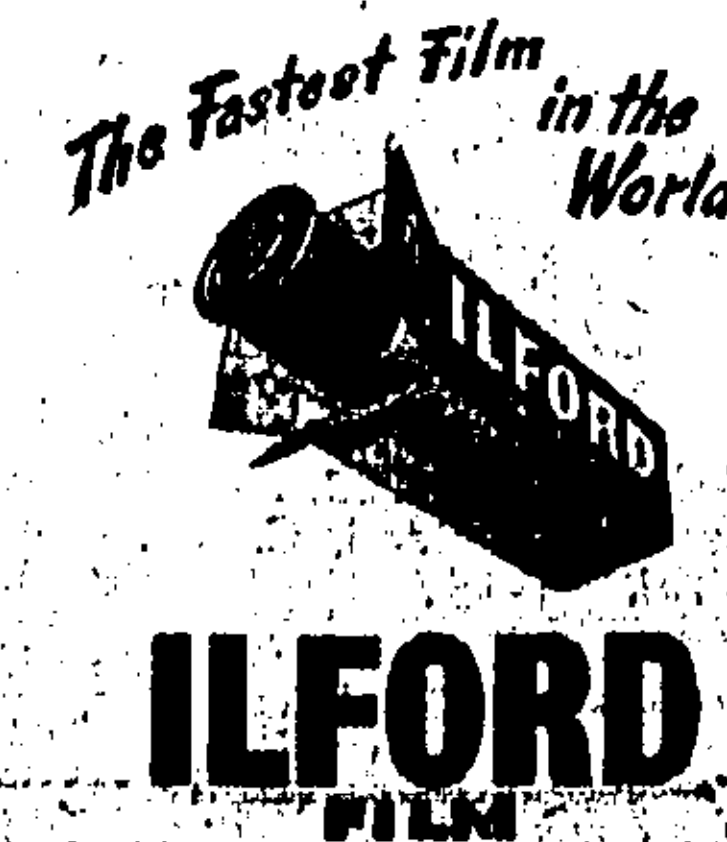

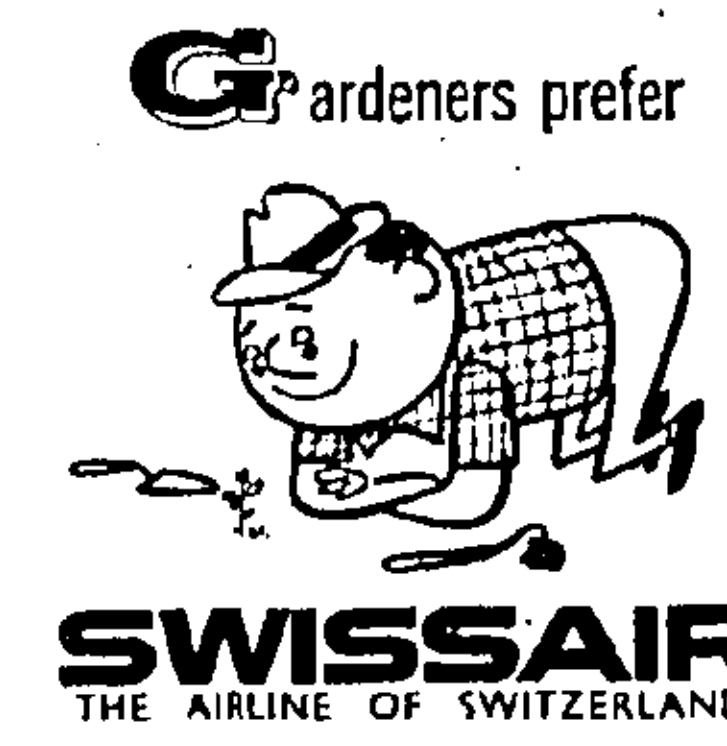

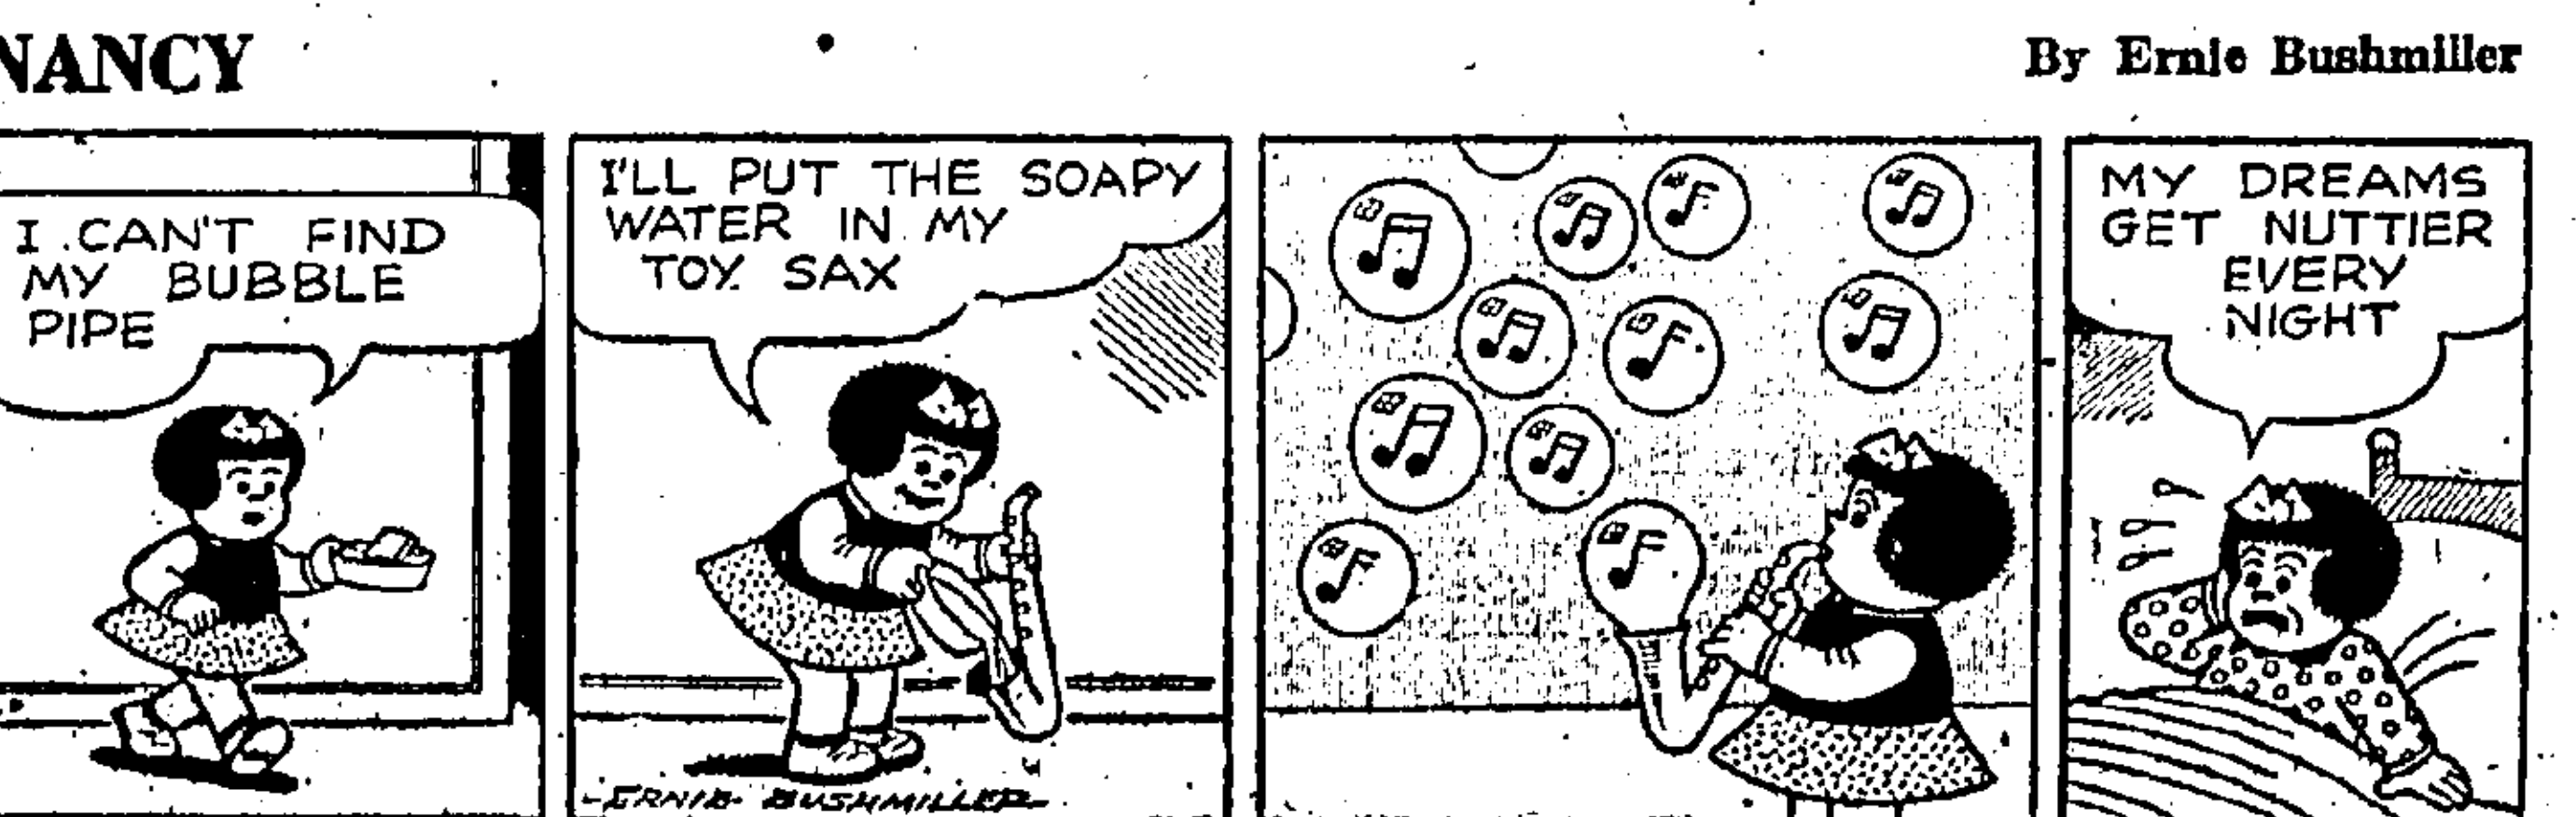

Hongkong Office:
25 Morrison Hill Road,
H.K. Tel: 72435

Kowloon Sales:
Omniplace Kowloon Magistracy,
Yau-mat Tel: 68282

A fat chance of slimming

It isn't... it can't be Sally Brown! Well, it is, darling. Why the surprise? I never saw such a change in anyone. You've got so slim! Yes, I suppose I have. I can't have seen you since Mary Smith's party when that new doctor's wife was telling me all about it. No riddles now, what's it? Well, you know I'd resigned myself to middle age spread and putting on an inch a year until I got to 80 or so? I do indeed — and I with you. Anyway, I was visiting the awful possibility to this woman and saying 'Well till you get to my age and it turned out she was five years older and just looked the picture of youth because she uses a Rolife Health Belt. It's the most marvellous home massage treatment you can imagine. Well, you can see what it's done for me. I can certainly do that. But how does it work? The easiest thing in the world — a belt that you put on and manipulate for precisely five minutes a day. No violent exercise — no diet — and all finished and done with first thing in the morning or last at night. It'll do half as much for me. I can't wait to get one. And I feel so much better. What's so impressed me's started using it too. Honestly! All I want to know is — how can I get one? You just write for their illustrated booklet to RALLIE HEALTH APPLIANCES LTD.

(Dept. 541K)
314, Euston Road, London, N.W.1., England.

THE BEESTON BOILER CO., LTD.
HEATING EQUIPMENT, BOILERS, RADIATORS, ETC.
ENGINEERING EQUIPMENT CO., LTD.
208 Chartered Bank Building, Tel. 27789

CHINA MAIL

Page 10

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1959.

SHEAFFER'S
ADMIRAL "SNORKEL" PEN

Captain Mourns The Friend He Left Behind

A middle-aged sea captain left Hongkong by air today "mourning" the loss of an "old friend".

He is Captain Morgan Williams, who recently arrived from Japan where his "friend" met her end.

Captain Williams' "friend" the 5,102-ton ship Dalia was recently scrapped in Japan. "Like all sea captains I got to love that ship just like it was human," Captain Williams said.

All Over

"I had been master of the old boat for two years and we had travelled all over the globe together."

"We had gone through many tight spots together and she proved herself every time."

"I was very sorry to see the old girl scrapped," he added. Captain Williams will return to England where he will either join another ship or start in the Harbour Service.

TWO ON TOBACCO CHARGE

Two men appeared before Mr. T. L. Yang at Central Magistracy this morning on a charge of having in custody a quantity of dutiable Chinese prepared tobacco.

Lo Fuk-yeo, 42, of 15 Hollywood Chinese Recreation Ground, ground floor, and Poon Chiu, 32, of 54 Catchick Street, first floor, pleaded not guilty, and hearing was fixed for December 4.

It is alleged that the defendants had in their custody 2,000 lbs of dutiable Chinese prepared tobacco on board a lorry at King's Road on November 28. They were allowed $5,000 bail each.

THE DYNAMIC BOOMERANG FLIES OFF

HIGH above the city, the man who brought the magic of Hongkong to millions, leaned on a low-slung, richly ornate balcony and inhaled the breath-taking beauty of Hongkong.

His clear blue eyes swung slowly along the bustling, ship-littered harbour, fastening for a time on the squat ferry chugging lazily towards Kowloon.

And he watched the scores of familiar junks bobbing like agitated corks in the mystery-shrouded green sea swell.

Kowloon jigsaw

He absorbed Hongkong's throbbing, honey-combed, concentric canyons, then the crazy jigsaw puzzle that is Kowloon.

He stared intently at the forbidden backdrop of brown and hills behind Kowloon. The man squared his shoulders and grinned. And the fragrant clumps of chrysanthemums, basking in the warm mid-autumn sun, nodded gentle agreement in the freshening breeze.

Then, turning abruptly, William Holden strode back inside the plush Correspondents' Club.

The contrast was amazing.

Tinsel Heat

Inside the club, cameras whirled angrily amid mists of twisting, tangled, insulated wires, and blinding floodlights beat down harshly on the small gang of men toiling and sweating in the tinsel heat.

Bill Holden shed his coat, loosened his tie, and threw himself unsparringly from the quiet beauty outside into the tough grime and drudgery of his latest tribute to Hongkong.

This time he's making a documentary, entitled "Hongkong," in collaboration with the Canadian Broadcasting Service. Holden narrates the script while deals with every facet of Hongkong's remarkable diversity, ranging from the shocking poverty of a crumbling, unwanted and desperately lonely refugee family to the blatant, brassy, carefree life at night. Script has been written by talented American producer and part-time author Stanley Flink, who stayed behind when Holden left yesterday.

The documentary—estimated screening-time up to an hour and a half—will be shown to millions of American television viewers in March.

Scheduled release here is expected to closely follow the U.S. debut.

Bill Holden, wealthy star of "Picnic," "Strait 17," "The Bridge on the River Kwai," and of course, "Love is a Many Splendored Thing," is like a dynamic boomerang. He always comes back to Hongkong.

He's a man who repeatedly says, simply: "This is my city." He loves and devours Hongkong with insatiable passion.

Eight Times

Holden has now visited Hongkong eight times. And he'll be back again within a month preparing for "The World of Suzie Wong," scheduled for shooting in January.

Holden's Hongkong is not the fleeting, goggle-eyed glimpse of the fly-by-night tourist. It's the real Hongkong.

He has many friends here and his daily diary is a full one. He told me he worked ten hours a day during the two weeks' visit just completed.

He is sincerely interested in Hongkong's development problems and says he invariably tours extensively in the New Territories each time he comes.

Off Again

To cap this, he devotes a lot of time to examining the plight of the refugees, as well as wandering around Wanchai and Kowloon.

Naturally, he "whoops it up" in the night clubs, but he says only occasionally, because of his other commitments.

Bill Holden, tall, husky and handsome and injected with a rare down-to-earth charm and sincerity, has gone again. But like a boomerang, he'll be back—time and again.

By IAN BOX

COUNSEL'S ATTACK ON CROWN WITNESSES

Mr Patrick Yu, defending counsel, submitted at Victoria District Court this morning that the evidence of the only two material prosecution witnesses, Chow Chun-kwong and Chan Ping-kwan, could not possibly be believed, as they had contradicted themselves frequently when giving evidence.

Mr Yu was opening the case for the defence on the 12th day of the trial of a Police Sub-Inspector, Francis Adrian Walsh, 30, his 20-year-old wife Irene Sheila, and Lily Lee, 40, on a charge of conspiracy.

Counsel said that to the prosecution, Chow's evidence was by far the most important and material.

"In my submission," Counsel continued, "the second witness Chow was totally unreliable as a witness, and I invite Your Honour to attach no value at all to his evidence."

"It is not a question of a witness just forgetting. Nor is it of a witness being a fool, or perhaps contradicting himself on a minor detail. It is all these things added together, and more."

Spoke In Whispers

Right from the start he thought the witness was not prepared to tell the court everything he knew, if at all. He said the man was obviously accustomed to speaking in whispers, and submitted that this was because the witness did not want too many people to know what he said.

Counsel also thought it very significant that Sub-Inspector Walsh had not been placed on a second charge of corruptly receiving money, as the third defendant, Lily Lee had been.

This he submitted was because the prosecution were unable to prove a second charge against Walsh, but were hoping that by inference, the onus would be on Walsh as well.

The three accused have denied a charge of conspiring to solicit payments from Chan and Chow as a reward for Sub-Inspector Walsh forbearing to take action against the 'Tat Koo Co. gambling club' in North Point.

Lee has also pleaded not guilty to another charge of receiving $2,000 on August 16 as a reward for Walsh forbearing to carry out his duties towards the club.

The hearing before Judge T. Creedon continues.

The Little 'Lone Wolf' Flies Off To Cure A Cough

By A CHINA MAIL REPORTER

A bright-eyed young Indian girl who arrived in Hongkong today by air described herself to reporters as a "lone wolf".

She is seven-year-old Rita Sachdev who flew in by Air India from Tokyo, unescorted. Rita is making a 2,500-mile trip alone to Bangkok, where she will join her grandparents. Rita is making the marathon journey for health reasons.

Hardly Breathe

"In Japan I was always coughing and could hardly breathe," she told reporters. "Mummy and daddy's doctor told them that if I went to a warmer place I would get better," she added.

Her parents will join her in Bangkok in about five months' time.

Stay Up Late

Rita who chatted happily to reporters at the airport, hinted that she didn't mind being alone because she could stay up late.

"I'm not a naughty girl but I'm having fun by myself. If I was in the pictures I would be a lone wolf," she added with a big grin.

APL Official Returns To Colony

Returning from their first trip to the United States, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Rosario arrived last night on the President Hoover.

Mr. Rosario who is an employee of the American President Lines and has been 34 years with the company, left on October 1 to visit the home office.

Mr. Rosario is District Claims Agent, HK. Mr. and Mrs. Rosario were greeted on arrival by Mr. Everett P. Mossell, Manager, APL, Hongkong.

Two Factories Destroyed In Kowloon Fire

A fire which broke out in Tung Tau Village, Kowloon, about 2.30 this morning seriously damaged two houses there.

The two houses, both two-storied structures, were used as weaving factories.

The fire lasted about 10 minutes and was put out at 3.07 a.m. The blaze covered an area of about 1,350 square feet. There were no casualties, a Government spokesman said.

CREST FOR FEDERATION SOUGHT

The Working Party of the Federation of Hongkong Industries today announced a competition to design a crest for the Federation.

First prize will be $300. Closing date for entries is January 8, 1960.

The design which must incorporate the Federation's full title, will be judged by the Working Party.

MISSIONS TO SEAMEN GET NEW LAUNCH

A new Missions to Seamen launch went down the slipways this morning at Kowloon Docks.

It perpetuates a name given to Mission launches in Hongkong for the last 55 years.

Mrs G. M. Goldsack, wife of the director of Dockyard & Co Ltd and the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Co Ltd, launched the vessel, named Dayspring 5.

The launch will enable Mission personnel to visit ships in harbour and, at weekends, to take visiting seamen on picnics, carry luggage and carry out special transport duties.

Sun Deck

The new launch, diesel-engined and 40-ft long, can carry 35 people against about 20 in the old Dayspring. It has a sun deck with an enclosed cabin underneath.

It has a speed of 8½ knots. It will be dedicated by Bishop R. O. Hall this afternoon at the Police Headquarters Marine Pier.

The first Dayspring, a steam launch, was built in 1904 for operations in Hongkong.

Getting ready for Christmas — Lane Crawford's is seen in this China Mail picture being decorated for the Christmas shopping rush.

MURDER TRIAL PUT OFF

In an unexpected move today, counsel for a man accused of murder in Kowloon's Walled City sought and was granted an adjournment.

Mr Justice A. D. Scholes in the Supreme Court, upheld A. H. Safflad's application on behalf of Wong Hon for an adjournment until Thursday.

Wong Hon, alias Wong Hal, is charged jointly with Lo Kan and Szeto Hin Chui, with the murder of Sin Kwai.

The adjournment was granted following a refusal by the Full Court a few minutes earlier to an application for a writ of habeas corpus on Wong Hon's behalf.

Mr Safflad said he sought an adjournment because he had not had time to prepare Wong Hon's case and on advice from his instructing solicitor (Mr A. N. Smart).

When Mr Justice Blair-Kerr said he could not understand why the hearing could not begin, Mr Safflad replied that he had been engaged in applying for Wong Hon's writ of habeas corpus.

He said he had not yet had an opportunity to see Wong Hon.

From the Files

25 years AGO

November 1934

NOT since the Coronation almost 25 years ago of His Majesty the King have such brilliant scenes been witnessed in London, as took place when the Duke of Kent, fourth son of their Majesties was married to Princess Marina, youngest daughter of Prince Nicholas of Greece and Princess Helen yesterday.

Long before midnight the previous day, dense throngs crowded the streets of London totally dislocating traffic.

By dawn the whole of the route of the Royal Procession was packed with a seething mass of humanity, millions of loyal subjects giving a striking manifestation of loyalty to the crown.

The wedding ceremony at Westminster Abbey was performed strictly according to schedule and was followed by a service according to Orthodox ritual at the Chapel House in Buckingham Palace.

The happy couple then left for Himeley Hall to commence their honeymoon, the first three weeks of which will be spent in the Mediterranean.

The local Oxford and Cambridge cricket match ended in a draw today. Playing for Oxford, Dr L. T. Rile scored 37, the Rev. Harry Raines, 22, R. H. Griffiths, 10 and G. R. Sayer, 53 not out—a total of 190 runs for four wickets. Cambridge replied with 165 for six, J. Barrow scoring 9, D. McLellan, 20, H. K. Wallington 12, J. P. Whitlam 20 and the Rev. C. B. R. Sargent, not out 5.

THE latest addition to the buildings of the University of Hongkong is the Peel Engineering Laboratory.

This is situated not far to the west of the main building, and it faces Pokfulam Road.

It is in appearance an almost exact replica of the Ho Tung Engineering Workshops built some ten years ago.

The two buildings will ultimately form the wings of a large block, planned to house the engineering laboratories, drawing offices, etc., some of which still remain in the main building.

Two smart looking destroyers built in Italy for the Soviet Government, arrived in Hongkong during the weekend.

They are on their way to Vladivostok, where they will be taken over by the USSR People's Commissariat for Military and Naval Affairs.

The destroyers went to the Kowloon Dockyard and anchored at the buoys where they will undergo overhaul and minor adjustments.

This Funny World

"Exchange student"

Printed and published by TANNER GUNSON-NEWLANDS PRINTERS for and on behalf of South China Morning Post Limited at 1-3 Wyndham Street, City of Victoria in the Colony of Hongkong.

Paquerette's Coat Week started to-day!!!

— Velours

— Tweeds

— Broadcloths

— Kashwools

— Ripplecords

and

Suedes — Vilopas — Capians

in a galaxy of latest styles, colours and fabrics sizes 6 to 20, Budget priced from $18500

PAQUERETTE LTD.
16a Des Voeux Road, C.
Tel. 21-157

SHOP LATE MONDAYS